Briefly describe the program proposal (new or change) and provide a justification.

The TESOL Minor serves an audience of undergraduate students who are not English majors. As currently constituted, the TESOL Minor provides teaching experience through ENGL 195A, which places students as tutors in the English Department's writing center. However, the TESOL program has found that the majority of students who opt for the TESOL minor are more interested in teaching oral skills than in tutoring writing. To address this need, the TESOL program proposes substituting a new course, ENGL 125F Teaching Oral Skills, for ENGL 195A. This new course will provide training in both the theory and practice of teaching oral skills.
