

CSUS BULLETIN

January 31 - February 6, 2000

HAMMER THROWER

Student Gets Home Field in Olympic Quest

When the 2000 U. S. Olympic Track and Field Trials come to CSUS this summer, hammer thrower Justin Carvalho won't need directions to the throwing circle. For the last four years, the CSUS student and Ponderosa High School graduate has competed, practiced and coached on the Hornet Stadium track.

Carvalho, who set a Big Sky record for the hammer in 1997 as a member of the CSUS track team, will compete for a spot on the team that will represent the United States in the 2000 Olympics in Sydney.

In addition to training at least four hours a day for this summer's competition, Carvalho works as a volunteer coach for the "throwers" on the Hornet track team, studies kinesiology and works 25 hours a week at a sporting goods store. Beyond his Olympic aspirations, Carvalho plans to earn a master's degree in strength and conditioning, and pursue a coaching career, preferably at CSUS.

The volunteer coaching actually helps his training, Carvalho says, by reminding him of the basics. He also feels it benefits the student athletes to have a coach who has competed in the event. "As a kinesiology major I can break down the movements of throwing. But as a hammer thrower, I can tell them 'When you get to this position in your motion, it will feel like this,'" he says.

And why did the former three-sport star – football, wrestling and track – turn his focus to the hammer? "I really feel that the hammer chose me," Carvalho says.

Carvalho competed in discus and shot put in junior high and high school but didn't even try the hammer until junior college. "When I first picked up the hammer, I hated it. It was hard," he says. But that hard work paid off in a track scholarship to CSUS where right off the bat, he broke the school record, twice. Pretty soon he had also shattered the Big Sky record and earned All-American honors.

Carvalho also competes in Olympic-style weightlifting and will join the CSUS Weightlifting Club at the U.S. weightlifting championships in March. But his focus this spring will be on the hammer. "The hammer is on the front burner," he says.

Carvalho missed qualifying for the 1996 Olympic Trials in the hammer by just four feet. So when he learned his hometown had landed the 2000 Trials, Carvalho knew he couldn't pass up the opportunity for home field advantage. "I thought, 'Now, I can put on the afterburners on my training,'" he says.

Carvalho is also looking for hometown support for his quest, seeking sponsorship money to allow him to cut back on his work hours and devote more time to his studies and training. He started his fund-raising

Continued on page four

HEAVY LOFTING – CSUS student Justin Carvalho practices the hammer throw, an event in which he has qualified to compete when the University hosts the 2000 U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials in July. Carvalho plans to pursue a coaching career someday, preferably here at his alma mater.

— Courtesy photo

Daylong Event Examines Hate Crimes

Capital Region law enforcement and civil rights scholars from around the country will discuss hate crimes during CSUS' daylong program, "Changing Times: Ending Hate, Opening Minds," Thursday, Feb. 10 in the University Union Ballroom.

The events will begin at noon with a two-hour convocation – a time when instructors are urged to cancel classes, allowing the campus community to come together to listen to and exchange ideas on a specific issue.

Convocation speaker Evelyn Hu-DeHart, University of Colorado at Boulder's ethnic studies chair, will give a talk on "Redefining America." The multi-lingual Hu-DeHart has testified before the U.S. Civil Rights Commission and founded the Asian/Pacific American Women's Leadership Institute.

There will be a Greater Sacramento Task Force on Hate Crimes public forum from 3 to 5 p.m. with Dorothy Enemoto, chair of the national task force on hate crimes, Sacramento County Sheriff Lou Blanas, Sacramento Police Chief Arturo Venegas Jr., Sacramento County District Attorney Jan Scully, U.S. Attorney Paul Seave, and Jim Maddox, local FBI director.

A lecture by Myrlie Evers-Williams, the widow of slain civil rights activist Medgar Evers, will conclude the program at 7:30 p.m.

Evers-Williams was the NAACP chairperson from 1995 to 1998.

Tickets for Evers-Williams' talk, the second in the University's "Leaders and Legends" series, are $10 general and $5 for students. They are available at the Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS ticket outlets. All other events in the program are free.

— Robyn S. Eifertsen

Lectures Set for Black History Month

A series of lectures in recognition of Black History Month will be presented this month by the CSUS Cooper Woodson College Enhancement Program. Each will be in the University Union.

The lectures will address such issues as stereotypes, education and civil rights. The schedule is as follows:

- Monday, Feb. 7 "Strategies of Survival for African Americans in Local Educational Institutions," CSUS bilingual multicultural education professor Forrest Davis, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.
- Wednesday, Feb. 9 "Sex, Lies and Stereotypes: Media Images of Blacks," Elena Featherson, writer, filmmaker and cultural critic, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.
- Thursday, Feb. 10 Myrlie Evers-Williams, civil rights advocate and widow of slain activist Medgar Evers, 7:30 p.m., University Union Ballroom. $10/$5 students. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.
- Monday, Feb. 14 "Preparing for Academic Challenges," Cloteal Isaac, CSUS outreach counselor, noon, University Union Orchard Suite.
- Tuesday, Feb. 15 "African Americans in Music: A Historical Account Past and Present," Jerry Blake, CSUS student activity advisor, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.

- Wednesday, Feb. 16 "The Genealogy of African Americans," Denise Griggs and the African American Genealogy Society of Sacramento, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.
- Thursday, Feb. 17 "Youth Peace and Cultural Experience in Ghana, West Africa, Summer 1999," CSUS criminal justice professors Cecil Canton and Ernest Uwazie and students, noon, University Union Orchard Suite.
- Monday, Feb. 21 "Ethnic/Religious Conflict Resolution in Nigeria," CSUS criminal justice professor Ernest Uwazie, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.
- Wednesday, Feb. 23 "Achievements and Resistance in Black Political Morality," Ricky Green, CSUS ethnic studies professor, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.
- Friday, Feb. 25 "Heritage and Horizons: The African American Legacy and the Challenges of the 21st Century," fifth annual Black History Month rally, various speakers,

Continued on page two

Info Facts

About 40 percent of CSUS students take a mix of day and night classes and about 10 percent take night classes only. More than 4 percent take Saturday or Sunday classes.

The CSUS Bulletin welcomes submissions to the Professional Activities section from faculty, administration and staff. Items are run on a space available basis. They should be no longer than 75 words and may be submitted to bulletin@csus.edu or faxed to 278-5290.

Scholarship

STANISLAUS J. DUNDON, philosophy, traveled to Asilomar in January, Toronto in June, St. Louis and Chicago in October and Berkeley in November as national coordinator of Soul of Agriculture, an American effort toward consensus on the values and ethics of family-managed farming. He presented exhibits and conducted consensus formation workshops at several agricultural conferences.

ROB WASSMER, public policy and administration, presented a paper on "Bidding for Business: The Efficacy of Local Incentives in a Metropolitan Area" at the American Real Estate and Urban Economics Association meeting in Boston Jan. 8, held in conjunction with the national meeting of U.S. economists. In early January, Wassmer's edited book Readings in Urban Economics: Issues and Public Policy was published by Blackwell.

LARRY BOLES, speech pathology and audiology, and MIMI LEWIS, social work, presented "The Speech-Language Pathologist and Couples Therapist Co-treating an 'Aphasic Relationship'" at the annual meeting of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association in San Francisco. Their work was recently cited in Counseling the Communicatively Disabled and Their Families: A Manual for Clinicians. (Shames, G. 2000, Needham Heights, MA: Allyn & Bacon.)

ARTHUR WILLIAMSON, history, presented a series of lectures in Chicago Jan. 10-11. The lectures included "The Apocalypse in the Making and Unmaking of the Modern World: From Jesus of Nazareth to Reagan of Hollywood," "Multiculturalism and Its Children: Creationism, Alternative Medicine and UFOs," and "Sir Isaac Newton, the Apocalypse and the Politics of Gravity." Williamson was also a featured speaker at the "Bridging the Millennia" conference at Cameron University in Oklahoma.

Recognition

The PUBLIC AFFAIRS OFFICE received an award of distinction for news writing at the annual meeting of the Council for Advancement and Support of Education District VII meeting in San Francisco in December.

Student Spotlight

REGINE CADET and VENKATA VEGESNA, both graduate students in biomedical engineering, have been selected as semifinalists in the international Young Investigator Competition, which is held by the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation. The two are among just five semifinalists from the United States. Cadet is developing a sensor to measure the force exerted on crutch handles by children walking with crutches. Vegesna is developing a system to monitor the stress experienced by surgeons while they perform video-endoscopic surgery.

The Team Sacramento Olympic Weightlifting Club at CSUS, made up of both students and non-students, recently had three medal winners in the 1999 American Open. Among them was history graduate student KATHERINE REDCHER-BOWLING. Other students competing in the American Open included ERIN DOYLE, VOTAIRE VITO, PAUL BOWLING and JEREMY ARSICH. In addition, students Redcher-Bowling, Doyle, JUSTIN CARVALHO, HEIDI CARPENTER, GREG JOHNSON and BRETT KELLY have all qualified to compete at the 2000 U.S. National Championships in March. Students TRAVIS BARTLING and ZACH JACOBS have qualified to compete at the 2000 Junior Nationals.

Fund-Raising Beats Annual Goal

Private contributions to CSUS exceeded the goal for the 1998-99 academic year.

The CSU system set a target of 10 percent of state funding for each campus to raise from private sources. For CSUS, that represented a goal of $10.9 million, which was exceeded by raising $11.1 million. That is an increase in private contributions of 20 percent over the previous year. In addition, $43.6 million was raised from special revenue sources such as grants and contracts, trusts, multi-year pledges and property transfers.

Overall, CSUS raised nearly $55 million in external support for the year. The $11.1 million from private sources represents $7.9 million from donors, foundations and corporations and $3.2 million from sponsorships and endowment income.

The increase in gifts from individuals is nearly 20 percent with nearly 4,000 alumni contributing to the University, along with 400 parents and 233 faculty and staff members. A total of 25,400 individuals contributed more than $3 million to CSUS and its auxiliaries, including Capital Public Radio.

Gifts from foundations nearly tripled, with 92 foundations contributing more than $700,000. In all, more than 700 corporations made gifts totaling more than $4 million.

Over the past decade there has been tremendous growth in private fund raising by the University. Gifts from alumni and parents almost quadrupled during that period, while corporate giving has nearly doubled.

Among the campus highlights in giving during the past year were:

- Former California Governor Pete Wilson and his wife Gayle Edlund were on campus to celebrate Sacramento news anchor Stan Atkinson's retirement. More than 900 guests contributed almost $100,000 to benefit the Lance D. Atkinson Scholarship Endowment. Stan Atkinson created the fund to award scholarships to College of Business students in memory of his son, who died shortly after graduation from CSUS.

- The Steven Lee Yamshon Alumni Center, now under construction, received a $141,000 gift from the James Wilcox estate and more than $200,000 has been contributed in labor and materials from contractors and suppliers in the Sacramento Region.
- Hewlett-Packard made gifts of cash and computer hardware valued at more than $160,000.
- The Boyd Foundation of New York gave $100,000 to establish the Kathryn and Eugene Boyd Excellence in Education Scholarship.
- A prominent local family made a $50,000 gift of stock to benefit the renovation of the historic Julia Morgan House, which will house University and community service programs.
- Construction continues as a result of the more than $1 million gift by Alex G. Spanos to help the University prepare for the 2000 U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials, which will be held on the campus.
- During the current academic year the University's gift annuity program is expected to approach $80,000.

CSUS BULLETIN

VOLUME 6, NUMBER 18

The Office of University Affairs
California State University,
Sacramento
6000 J Street
Sacramento, CA 95819-6026

Vice President, University Affairs
Robert G. Jones

Associate Vice President, Public Affairs
Ann Reed

Writers
Robyn S. Eifertsen
Laurie Hall
Frank Whitlatch

Director of Publications
Geri Welch

Contributing Writer
Heather Vandenburg

TO SUBMIT MATERIAL FOR PUBLICATION:

The CSUS Bulletin is published on Mondays of the academic year. Campus news may be submitted by e-mail to bulletin@csus.edu, may be faxed to 278-5290 or may be delivered on disk or paper to Public Affairs, Sacramento Hall Room 203, campus mail code 6026. Deadline for all materials is 10 a.m. on the Wednesday before publication. Items will be published on a space available basis and are subject to editing. Writing should be in news style, short and direct. For inquiries call 278-6156.

printed on recycled paper

Banquet Honors Serna and Others

CSUS will grant its first Lifetime Achievement Award, posthumously, to Joe Serna Jr., the late mayor of Sacramento and a government and ethnic studies professor at CSUS for nearly three decades.

The award will be made at the annual Distinguished Service Awards Banquet on Thursday, Feb. 17 in the University Union Ballroom.

At the same event, 10 alumni will receive Distinguished Service Awards. They include: artist Suzanne Adan, '60/'71; artist Michael Stevens, '67; Sacramento County Sheriff, Lou Blanas, '73; owner of Fernandez Barragan & Associates, Jesus Fernandez, '75; executive director of River Oak Center for Children, Mary Hargrave, '67; general counsel for Nob Hill Properties, Catherine MacMillan, '78; San Juan Unified School District teacher, Janet McWilliams, '59; owner of Filco Discount centers, Tony Saca, '67; founder of Dixie Schneider

Presents, Dixie Schneider, '87; and Sacramento City Manager, Bob Thomas, '71/'78.

In addition, CSUS history professor Kenneth Owens will receive the Distinguished Faculty Award and former TV anchor Stan Atkinson will receive the Honorary Alumnus Award.

The banquet begins with a 6:45 p.m. reception, and the dinner and program begin at 7:30 p.m.

Serna will be honored for both his long service to the Capital Region and his commitment to students. CSUS announced earlier this month that it has named its first endowed professorship for Serna. The lead gifts to fund the professorship have been made by developer Angelo Tsakopoulos and attorney Morton Friedman.

The Distinguished Service Awards and banquet are sponsored jointly by the University and the CSUS Alumni Association to recognize outstanding alumni and community members for their achievements and service.

The keynote speaker this year will be Sandra Smoley, former secretary of the state Health and Welfare Agency and former Sacramento County supervisor. Paul and Phil from Y92.5 KGBY will emcee the event.

Tickets are $45 per person or $450 per table. Reservations may be made by calling 278-6295 by Monday, Feb. 7.

Black History

Continued from page one

student performances, poetry, entertainment, booths, vendors and displays, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., University Union Ballroom.

- Monday, Feb. 28 "The Search for Home, Justice and Adventure: The African American Traveler," Hortense Simmons, CSUS English professor, noon, University Union Orchard Suite.

Teaching is the Craft of a Lifetime for Lustig

Teachers are craftsmen, says Jeff Lustig. He came to his conclusion while in between teaching posts, when he saw how the carpenters and house painters he was working with approached their crafts.

"I came to realize that teaching is a craft also and that means mastering different skills," says the government professor. "If you call yourself a teacher, there might be some jobs you want to do more than others, but you have to be able to do the whole thing."

Lustig is the most recent Outstanding Teacher in the College of Social Sciences and Interdisciplinary Studies. Comparing himself with a carpenter who specializes in finish work but can also do framing and put up drywall, Lustig says one of his goals is to master different aspects of teaching as a craft.

To this end, he's taught in various settings — small discussion groups and large lecture classes, teaching at a big cosmopolitan school like UC Berkeley and a tiny liberal arts college in rural eastern California. Lustig also learned from the teachers he had along the way.

"I was the beneficiary of some excellent, wonderful professors who had different styles," he says. "I probably had five or six great professors by the time I was in graduate school. I had to decide which parts of which ones to assimilate into my own method."

His college days also fed his desire for healthy debate. Lustig earned his undergraduate, master's and doctorate degrees from UC Berkeley during the university's politically active days. Instead of considering them distractions, he saw campus demonstrations as a completion of his education.

Jeff Lustig

"In some sense what went on was an extension of what went on in the best classrooms — discussion of values and ideas, matching of wits, testing of logic — where things matter," he says.

Lustig says a good class features students having informed arguments with him and with each other. "What I say is open to challenge," he adds. "I try to draw out the students' differences so it doesn't wind up a foggy 'different strokes for different folks' situation. I try to reaffirm that there are large things at stake in our arguments."

But he also stresses that there is important material to be conveyed and he wants students to learn. "I'm not entirely a 'hang-loose' professor. I'm known as a hard professor," he says.

Lustig says some people see life as a "zero-sum" game — if one person wins the other loses. "I think there is a fundamental error in that," he says. "A good class is the best proof. When the students are chewing on a difficult point and one student stumbles on a new way of seeing things, everyone wins."

Lustig says he keeps fresh by tuning into new aspects of his interests. For a few years he was director of the Center for California Studies. Now he's president of the faculty union and secretary of the union statewide. He says his union activities bring him back to his long-term political interests. "It's a politically applied extension of what I was doing on Sproul Plaza as a student," he notes.

But it always comes back to teaching.

— Laurie Hall

News Digest

Teaching Tips

The Center for Teaching and Learning will hold a Teaching Workshop Series this spring. The workshops are open to anyone interested in college teaching. They will be held from noon to 2 p.m. in Lassen Hall 1102 on the following days:

- THURSDAY, FEB. 17
"Problem-Based Learning," Kathy Jarvis, nursing
- FRIDAY, FEB. 25
"Helping ESL Students Succeed," Robert Ching and Tina Jordan, Learning Skills Center
- FRIDAY, MARCH 10
"Designing Writing Assignments," faculty panel and discussion
- FRIDAY, MARCH 24
"Critical Thinking Across the Disciplines," faculty panel and discussion
- FRIDAY, APRIL 7
"Exploring the Myths of Learning Disabled/Attention Deficit Disorder Learners," Kathleen Cronin, Rocky Dunne, Hannah Simonet and a student panel
- FRIDAY, APRIL 28
"Course Planning: Getting Ready for Fall"

The Center for Teaching and Learning will also hold an open house Tuesday, April 11 from 3 to 5:30 p.m. in Lassen Hall 3004.

For more information, call 278-5945, email ctl@csus.edu or visit www.csus.edu/ctl.

Faculty Merit Increases

Lists of faculty merit increase awardees are now available. Department lists can be found in department offices. Copies of the complete University list are available in the dean's office of each College and in the Faculty Senate office.

Crime Reports Online

CSUS crime reporting statistics are available online at www.csus.edu/police/SRTKRPT.html. Print copies are available in the library and by request from the Public Safety office and the office of the vice president for student affairs. This effort is in compliance with the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. Federal law requires campus crime statistics be made available to all employees. For more information contact David Braverman at 278-6060.

Boost for 'Mall Hall'

A new sponsor will help CSUS provide computer training and services to the South Sacramento community at Florin Mall.

Robert W. Daniels, corporate relations manager with Allstate Insurance Company, will present a check to Social Science and Interdisciplinary Studies Dean Joseph Sheley at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 1 in the "Mall Hall" Computer Resource Learning Center, located in Florin Mall next to Radio Shack.

"Mall Hall" is open seven days a week, primarily during afternoon and evening hours. It is free to the public and is staffed by CSUS students.

The primary focus of the program is to provide a safe learning environment where community members can learn how to use a computer. It offers free day-time classes and has open computer hours. It also provides a quiet place for students to study or read.

Guided Library Tours

Guided tours of the University Library will be offered during the second and third weeks of the spring semester, from Monday, Feb. 7 through Friday, Feb. 18. These hour-long tours will start in the library lobby at the base of the escalator at the following times:

- Mondays: 10 a.m., noon, 2 p.m., 6 p.m.
- Tuesdays: 10:30 a.m., noon, 2:30 p.m., 6 p.m.
- Wednesdays: 10 a.m., noon, 2 p.m.
- Thursdays: 10:30 a.m., noon, 2:30 p.m.
- Fridays: 10 a.m., noon, 2 p.m.

Faculty may assign a library tour and require their students to show a blue tour voucher as proof that the assignment was completed. If these tour times are inconvenient, individuals may take one of the self-guided library tours at their convenience whenever the library is open. The checkpoint tour is available at the information desk in the lobby.

Faculty who would like to bring their classes to the library for specialized instruction may call Linda Goff at 278-5981 or e-mail ljgoff@csus.edu. For instruction related to disciplines, call the reference desk at 278-5673 for referral to the appropriate subject specialist.

Teens, Leaders Confront Hate

Northern California high school students and state leaders will discuss hate and hate crimes at a special meeting at the State Capitol in Room 4202, 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 1.

The meeting will focus on the causes of hate behavior and how government, communities, and schools are reacting to recent hate crimes. The event is presented by the LegiSchool Project at CSUS.

The panel will include Attorney General Bill Lockyer, Senator Bruce McPherson (R-Santa Cruz), and Senator Deborah Ortiz (D-Sacramento).

Student panelists will include teens from Salisbury High School in Red Bluff, Elk Grove High School, Downtown High School in San Francisco and Rio Americano High School in Sacramento.

More than 300 students in the audience will be able to ask questions including students from Rancho Cotate High School in Rohnert Park, El Camino High School in Sacramento, Oakridge High School in El Dorado Hills, El Dorado High School in Placerville, Butte Valley High School in Dorris and Foothill High School in Pleasanton. Thousands of other students will watch on the California Channel or on videotape at a later time.

Paula Gardner, a professor in the College of Education at CSUS, will moderate the event.

The LegiSchool Project is a civic education collaboration between CSUS and the State Legislature. More information is available by contacting LegiSchool Project Coordinator Kolleen Ostgaard at 278-6906.

Job News

Academic Affairs is accepting applications for the position of dean of the College of Education. Review of applications begins Feb. 28 and will continue until the position is filled.

For further information regarding this position, contact Harriet Taniguchi in academic affairs at 278-7854. The vacancy announcement can be found on the CSUS website at www.csus.edu/fas/dean.edu.htm.

CSUS Events

January 31 - February 6, 2000

CONTEMPORARY DANCE – The modern moves of the Dallas Black Dance Theatre will be featured in the University Union Ballroom at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 16. Tickets are $8 general and $5.50 for CSUS students with I.D., and are available at the Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

The company of 13 professional dancers performs a mixed repertory of modern, jazz, ethnic and spiritual dances by nationally and internationally noted choreographers.

Dallas Black Dance Theatre, founded in 1976, strives to provide dance opportunities for minorities. Through their work and educational programs, the company works to provide a bridge for different cultures to come together.

The company has performed extensively throughout the country including appearances at Kennedy Center in Washington and Lincoln Center in New York. They continue to reach audiences worldwide, performing in Europe, South America, Mexico, the Caribbean and South Africa.

The performance is presented by UNIQUE Programs, in part to celebrate Black History Month. More information about the Dallas Black Dance Theatre is at www.dbdt.com.

Hammer Thrower

Continued from page one

campaign, Team Carvalho, after seeing a news story about a filmmaker who financed a Sundance Film Festival project with small gifts from individuals and corporations.

Carvalho says his coaching plans will be his way to give back to Sacramento. "I plan to put what I've learned back into Sac State," he says. "I want people to know that if they make me better, I can do the same for the athletes here."

Guiding others is a Carvalho family trait. Justin's wife Barbara, also a CSUS student, teaches first grade while working toward her teaching credential.

— Laurie Hall

Monday, Jan. 31

Spring semester classes begin.

Tuesday, Feb. 1

Center for California Studies
LegiSchool Town Hall Meeting on Hate Crimes, 10 a.m. - noon, State Capitol, Room 4202. State legislators and high school students will discuss hate crimes. The public is invited.

For more information call Kolleen Ostgaard 278-6906.

Wednesday, Feb. 2

Women's basketball vs. Montana State, 7 p.m., Hornet Gym. $6/$4 other students and seniors/CSUS students free with I.D. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

Thursday, Feb. 3

Teatro Milagro, theatrical comedy, 11:45 a.m., University Union Auditorium. Free.

Friday, Feb. 4

Gymnastics vs. Utah State, 7:30 p.m., Hornet Gym.

Saturday, Feb. 5

Sacramento County Office of Education Academic Decathlon, 6 a.m. - 7 p.m., Alpine Hall and Brighton Hall.

Monday, Feb. 7

The Sun Quartet, faculty recital, 8 p.m., Capistrano Hall 151. $6/$4 students and seniors. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

"Strategies of Survival for African Americans in Local Educational Institutions," Black History Month, bilingual/multicultural education professor Forrest Davis, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.

Wednesday, Feb. 9

"Sex, Lies and Stereotypes: Media Images of Blacks," Black History Month, noon, Elena Featherson, writer, filmmaker and cultural critic, University Union Foothill Suite.

Thursday, Feb. 10

"Changing Times: Ending Hate, Opening Minds," afternoon program, University Union Ballroom, noon - 2 p.m., convocation, "Redefining America," Evelyn Hu-DeHart, University of Colorado at Boulder's ethnic studies chair; 3 - 5 p.m. Greater Sacramento Task Force on Hate Crimes public forum.

Myrlie Evers-Williams, Black History Month/Leaders and Legends lecture series, widow of slain civil rights activist Medgar Evers and chair emeritus of the NAACP board of directors, 7:30 p.m., University Union Ballroom. $10/$5 students. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

Men's basketball vs. Montana State, 7 p.m., Memorial Auditorium, 16th and J streets. $6/$10 reserved/CSUS students free with I.D. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

Student art award exhibition, Robert Else Gallery, Kadema Hall. Continues to March 15. Reception Feb. 14, time to be announced.

Saturday, Feb. 12

Men's basketball vs. Weber State, 7 p.m., Memorial Auditorium, 16th and J streets. $6/$10 reserved/CSUS students free with I.D. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

Monday, Feb. 14

CSUS Symphony Orchestra, first concert of the year, 8 p.m., Music Recital Hall, Capistrano Hall. $6/$4. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

Heading East: California's Asian Pacific Experience Traveling Exhibit, created as part of the Sesquicentennial Celebration, Library South Reading Room. Continues to Feb. 26.

Student art award exhibition reception, time to be announced, Robert Else Gallery, Kadema Hall. Continues to March 15.

"Preparing for Academic Challenges," Black History Month, Cloteal Isaac, outreach counselor, noon, University Union Orchard Suite.

Tuesday, February 15

"African Americans in Music: A Historical Account Past and Present," Black History Month, Jerry Blake, student activity advisor, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.

Wednesday, Feb. 16

Dallas Black Dance Theatre, Black History Month, 7:30 - 9:30 p.m., University Union Ballroom. Advance price: $8/$5.50 CSUS students with I.D. Door price: $10/$7.50 CSUS students with I.D. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

"The Genealogy of African Americans," Black History Month, Denise Griggs and the African American Genealogy Society of Sacramento, noon, University Union Foothill Suite.

Thursday, Feb. 17

Distinguished Service Awards Banquet, 6 - 10 p.m., University

CSUS CENTRAL TICKET OFFICE

Call 278-4323

www.csus.edu/events

Union Ballroom.

"Problem-Based Learning," Kathy Jarvis, nursing, Center for Teaching and Learning teacher workshop series, noon - 2 p.m., Lassen Hall 1102.

"Youth Peace and Cultural Experience in Ghana, West Africa, Summer 1999," Black History Month, criminal justice professors Cecil Canton and Ernest Uwazie and students, noon, University Union Orchard Suite.

Women's basketball vs. Portland State, 7 p.m., Hornet Gym. $6/$4 other students and seniors/CSUS students free with I.D. Tickets at Central Ticket Office, 278-4323, or at BASS.

Friday, Feb. 18

Gymnastics vs. Seattle Pacific, 7 p.m., Hornet Gym.

"Jump Time - Year 2000," Jean Houston, motivational speaker, 7 - 10 p.m., University Union Ballroom. Continues Feb. 19 - 20. Registration is $224 for the 3-day event. Call 278-4433.

NEW BULLETIN E-MAIL

News or events items for the CSUS Bulletin may now be sent to bulletin@csus.edu.

The Bulletin is published on Mondays during the academic year, and the deadline for submissions is 10 a.m. the Wednesday before publication. Items are published on a space available basis and may be edited.

Faculty Senate

Tuesday, Feb. 1

3 p.m., Executive Committee, tentative

Friday, Feb. 4

2 p.m., Academic Policies Committee

Tuesday, Feb. 8

1:30 p.m., Curriculum Subcommittee
3 p.m., Executive Committee

Wednesday, Feb. 9

3 p.m., General Education Course Review Subcommittee

Tuesday, Feb. 15

1 p.m., Curriculum Policies Committee
3 p.m., Executive Committee
3 p.m., University Appointment, Retention, Tenure and Promotion Committee, University Union Capital Room, tentative

All meetings are in Sacramento Hall 275 unless otherwise noted.