Repeating a Course in Fall?

Our preliminary review of your Fall enrollment indicates you are repeating course(s) that may impact your financial aid award.

The new Federal Financial Aid Repeat Policy only allows undergraduate students to repeat a course that they have already passed one more time.

This is true even if the passing grade was not high enough to meet the minimum required grade for a course to count towards the major or graduation. A passing grade for these purposes is a grade of D-minus or higher. In some cases, this may result in an adjustment to your financial aid award, resulting in less financial aid than expected.
