Temporary GIS Position Opportunity –
June - July 2010

Wildlands, Inc., a habitat restoration and mitigation banking company, is seeking a highly-motivated, inquisitive, and dependable temporary full-time GIS employee to assist in the following tasks:

• Creation of maps and graphics
• Creation and management of geospatial data

The position will also offer opportunities to explore more advanced GIS techniques and concepts such as spatial analysis, 3D surface analysis, and orthorectification. It is also an excellent opportunity for those interested in planning, conservation biology, or the burgeoning mitigation banking industry.

Desired Qualifications

• Working knowledge of ArcGIS 9.x Desktop software
• Strong cartographic and presentation skills
• Understanding of fundamental GIS concepts such as map projections and coordinate systems, map scale, accuracy and precision, and database management
• Ability to work independently with minimal supervision
• Desired but not required: Experience with Adobe PageMaker

Schedule

Ideally, candidates would be able to commit to a regular, near full-time schedule (30-40 hours/week) for the duration of the position (3-4 weeks). Pay is negotiable, and commensurate with qualifications.

About Us

Wildlands, Inc. is a well-known, highly respected mitigation banking company. Its working environment is informal yet professional. Wildlands strives for the highest of professional work standards within the industry. Wildlands is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

E-mail cover letter and resume to Neil Dhawan: ndhawan@wildlandsinc.com or fax to: (916) 435-3556