• Every student in this class is REQUIRED to join the class discussion and communication e-mail list known as listproc. The name of our listproc is HRS119S3-L.

• Course Description: A study of Greek and Roman myths and their place in the art and literature of Western civilization. Myths of deities, nature, and of heroes and heroines will be studied from various perspectives. This course satisfies General Education Area C4.

• Course Content: Readings in the course include selections from Hesiod’s Theogony, the Homeric Hymns, an Ovid’s Metamorphosis along with entire plays written by Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides and all of Homer’s Odyssey. The course will also include the study and analyses of both ancient and modern sculpture and paintings, as well as movies and music, inspired by stories, themes and characters from Greek and Roman myth that survive and thrive in the modern world.

• Writing Requirements and Testing: Two papers are required for this class. The first paper is 3-4 pages in length and second, 5-6 pages in lengths. There will be two midterms and a final exam.

• Learning Objectives:
The course is designed as an introductory survey of classical mythology. Its major objective is to advance significantly the student's knowledge of this subject matter that remains a vital part of our shared cultural vocabulary and, due to the very nature of myth, challenges us to consider the universal concerns and perspectives of the human condition. In addition, specific course objectives include:
The development of analytical reading and oral communication skills through reading and discussion of a great variety of literature.
An enhanced ability to understand classical mythology in its historical context, to identify and analyze the impact of myth on the literature, art, and architecture of ancient Greece and Rome as well as to the modern world.
Virtually all aspects of the course will require students to use and enhance critical reasoning skills.

 FOR GENERAL NOTES ON FORMAL WRITING ASSIGNMENTS, PLEASE SEE SEPARATE HANDOUT. ***
LAPTOP POLICY: Many discussions have included both the positive value and the negative distraction of using laptop computers in the classroom. And yet there is no consensus. Therefore each instructor must make his or her own policy. I will allow use of a laptop computer only with my personal approval. You must see me about using your laptop in class and make your case for permission to do so.

ATTENDANCE AND TARDY POLICY: Students are expected to attend all sessions of the class, prepared to discuss the reading assignment for the day. It is necessary, both for your own education and as a courtesy to the other members of the class, to attend class regularly and punctually. An attendance sheet will be distributed for your signature at each class meeting. It is your responsibility to sign this sheet. Numerous absences and/or chronic tardiness will adversely affect your participation grade. When applicable, I will implement the Department Attendance Policy.
