The war against the machine, the machine against the war. The question of the day, what is the machine? The machine is a creation of man, to serve man. It is a tool, a means to an end. But what is the end? The end is power, control, domination. The machine is the tool of those who seek to control. It is the servant of the powerful, the tool of the exploiters.

The machine is the means by which we can control our surroundings, our environment. It is the means by which we can manipulate, shape, and direct our world. It is the tool of those who seek to dominate. It is the servant of the powerful, the tool of the exploiters.

The machine is the tool of those who seek to control. It is the servant of the powerful, the tool of the exploiters. But who is the powerful? Who are the exploiters? Who are the controllers? It is the people themselves, the masses, who are the powerful. It is the people themselves, the masses, who are the controllers. It is the people themselves, the masses, who are the exploiters.
