1. Essential Information (10 points): complete (a)-(e) & attach a sketch to supplement (d).

(a) name of site:

(b) name of the event (if known) & date/time you attended:

(c) features of the building, seen from outside:

(d) features and arrangement of the space inside (attach sketch):

(e) number and types of people present:

2. Overview & Chosen Scene(s) (50 points): using complete sentences, describe the precise sequence of what you saw, heard (words & sounds), smelled, etc., leading up to, including and following your chosen "scene." Include at least two informal interactions observed (side conversations, nonverbal & social exchanges, etc.), and any contact you yourself made with community member(s). Provide as much detail as possible in (b), but in (a) & (c) focus on details most relevant to understanding the chosen scene highlighted in (b).

(a) selective summary of what led up to your chosen scene, including start of the event:

(b) detailed description of your chosen scene:

(c) selective summary of what followed your chosen scene, including event conclusion:

3. Reflection (40 points): address all three points below, once again using complete sentences.

(a) Describe the way that your own upbringing, as well as any other previous experiences, influenced what your attention was most drawn to and what you thought about during the visit.

(b) Identify in your own words (1-2 sentences) the ritual or custom described in a primary source (drawing from those listed on the syllabus for Units 1 & 2—but NOT CP, 105-23) that most directly resembles a ritual or custom observed during your visit.

REMINDER: commentary and analysis of an outside scholar is not a primary source

- name of the primary source (with page &/or verse # of relevant details):

- actions, objects, words, participants, timing &/or settings mentioned in it (2-3 sentences):

- ways in which above details both resembled and differed from what you saw (2-3 sentences):

(c) Reflect on any progress you have made so far this semester in relation to the learning objectives listed on the course syllabus, &/or your hopes/goal(s) identified in the first week. &

* Attach & handwrite answers directly on your start-of-term diagram/doodle, which illustrated "major life lessons" and also included a verbal description of how you learn best. ***
