Justification for course proposal:

Bachelor of Science Career Technical Studies is undergoing major curriculum revisions to be more inclusive and relevant to educators and career professionals. This course is being redesigned to be more focused on the workforce development aspect of the program. This course would help better serve our students by offering practical applications using workforce development competencies and educational theoretical frameworks for research and professional development implications by providing content related to the social, economic, political, and philosophical forces that impact organizations and schools. These topics are central to the content of EDUC 114.

Course Description: (Not to exceed 80 words and language should conform to catalog copy.)

An introduction to the study of the multiculturalism and its impact on schools and the workplace. The primary objective is to provide a learning environment which is conducive to the development of knowledge, understanding, and skills consistent with multicultural training and pluralistic philosophies. Students will examine the work of adult education theorists and business scholars that impact schools and the workforce. The course examines social institutions, beliefs, customs, and social trends affecting adult education, organizations, and the workforce.
