Justification for course proposal:

In consultation with the CHHS Dean's office, we are requesting to change the lecture classification from CS#02 to CS#15 Technical Activities and Laboratories (K-factor – 1.5 WTU per unit), which is more reflective of the nature of the course. Although the brief description of CS#15 does not list Nursing, there has been considerable change in Nursing courses over the years, and the teaching of Nursing is no longer straight lecture. This course more closely fits the technical activities description as it would for speech correction or foreign languages, thus prompting this change. The connection of the instructor of record of this course to its corresponding clinical sections is also in line with a laboratory course. The instructor of record of this course is responsible for the coordination and management of 8 associated clinical sections and numerous part-time temporary faculty.

We are not proposing any changes to the course such as objectives and assessments.

Course Description: (Not to exceed 80 words and language should conform to catalog copy.)

Introduction and application of nursing concepts in meeting health needs of the child from birth through adolescence. Emphasis is placed on health promotion and disease management within the context of the family and applied across multiple settings. Lecture three hours; laboratory six-eight hours.

Description of the Expected Learning Outcomes: Describe outcomes using the following format: "Students will be able to: 1), 2), etc."

The course objectives are aligned with the School of Nursing Baccalaureate Student Learning Outcomes (BSLOs). Students must meet all course objectives in order to pass the course. The student is expected to:

1. Create individualized plans of care for children and families with complex health problems.
2. Apply knowledge of complex concepts related to child health promotion and disease prevention and treatment.
3. Implement safe, effective healthcare for multiple children in increasingly complex situations and across multiple settings.
4. Apply principles of nursing advocacy in promoting health and wellness for children and families.
