Justification for course proposal:

The changes made include updating course objectives, course title, and course description. Additionally, we are removing the co-requisite of EDC 234. EDC 476 is a required pre-practicum course for students in the MS Counseling: Marriage, Couple, and Family Counseling concentration. The requested change is to eliminate the co-requisite of EDC 234 in order to offer 476 later as the more advanced practice course where they practice in a simulation the theories and techniques learned in 234. Additionally, aligning the names of the two courses. No other changes are made.

Course Description: (Not to exceed 80 words and language should conform to catalog copy.)

Structured observation and supervised practice in marriage, couple, and family counseling. Application of material learned in EDC 234 to build on practice and use of systems theories and techniques.
