No

This course complies with the credit hour policy:
Yes

Justification for course proposal:
When the program changed from having areas of study (concentrations) to just one general degree, we changed the use of units in this class to just one policy. The program reflects the accurate information about how many units may be applied to the major elective units. This is updating so the course is in alignment with the program requirements.

We allow for 6 different opportunities to take the class because it can be taken for 1 unit multiple semesters, if the student is working on a regular project, or wants to engage different opportunities with different faculty.

Course Description: (Not to exceed 80 words and language should conform to catalog copy.)
Individual projects or directed reading; open only to students who appear competent to carry on individual work. Admission requires approval of the sponsor of the project and the Department Chair.

Description of the Expected Learning Outcomes: Describe outcomes using the following format: 'Students will be able to: 1), 2), etc.'

1) Identify social concepts and theories
2) Apply social concepts, theories and/research in the field of Sociology
3) Communicate effectively concerning ideas and concepts in Sociology

(The syllabus below is an example of an independent study, which offers more outcomes that might be present in an independent study.)

Assessment Strategies: A description of the assessment strategies (e.g., portfolios, examinations, performances, pre-and post-tests, conferences with students, student papers) which will be used by the instructor to determine the extent to which students have achieved the learning outcomes noted above.

Diverse, as different based on the type of independent study, but most are evaluated on 3 key areas:
1) Regular discussions with faculty member on key concepts and ideas from sociology, likely as a result of readings (LO 1, 2, 3)
2) Paper(s): Student consolidates the ideas they are reading and discussing and develops a paper to convey the ideas (LO 1, 2, 3)
3) Reading Comprehension: Completion and discussion (written and/or oral) of the ideas addressed in a reading and how they relate to a specific topic or area of study (LO 1, 2, 3).
