Justification for course proposal:

This course replaces and clarifies the Deaf 165: Special Topics in Deaf Studies offerings by establishing media representations of Deaf people as a separate and distinct course offering which students may take for credit, either as a required course or in substitution for transferred or waived coursework. Whereas in the past, these offerings were offered under a single heading, Deaf 165, these courses are now presented as standalone choices.

This course specifically focuses on the portrayal of, inclusion (or lack), and correct representation of the Deaf community in the media.

Course Description: (Not to exceed 80 words and language should conform to catalog copy.)

This course will explore issues of special concern and interest to the Deaf community, specifically relating to Deafness and mass media representation. Examples from journalism, TV, film, advertising, photography, documentaries, comic art, and the Internet will be provided and analyzed. The course will consist of readings, discussion, independent research, and viewing of various media as appropriate.
