Program Description

History, in the broad sense, is the study of all human experience. It examines the people, institutions, ideas, and events from the past to the present. The study of history contributes to cultural literacy and develops critical thinking and other useful skills while helping students understand the present and plan for the future. Historical study provides a solid, fundamental preparation for careers in business, industry, government, and education. It also serves as excellent preparation for law school, foreign service, international work, urban affairs, historical consulting, and library science.

History is an academic discipline offering both breadth and focus. At Sacramento State, the History major includes four lower division survey courses and three upper division seminars. In addition, students choose seven upper division electives from a wide variety available. The flexibility of the major allows students to focus on topical areas such as: women's history, the history of particular geographic areas, cultural history, ethnic group history, economic history, military history, and history from the ancient world to that of the U.S. in the 20th Century. Teaching credential candidates should complete the History/Social Science Pre-credential Program.

Admission Requirements: Course prerequisites and other criteria for admission of students to the degree major program, and for their continuation in it.

[1]   Course also satisfies General Education (GE)/Graduation Requirement.

[2]   HIST 100, 100R, and 197 form a research and writing sequence in the major. History majors should take HIST 100 in the second semester of their sophomore year or the first semester of their junior year (or after completion of at least 9 units of the required lower division coursework for the major). Students should complete a WPJ portfolio in the same semester as they take HIST 100 and the following semester should take HIST 100R. HIST 100R is in turn a prerequisite for HIST 197, which should be typically completed in a student's final semester. Ideally, HIST 192 should be completed the semester before HIST 197.

Notes:

- Students should consult with a faculty advisor in their first semester at Sacramento State.
- Study of a foreign language is recommended.
- For substitutions in requirements, students should consult with a faculty advisor early in their program. Substitutions require the approval of the Department Chair.

Fiscal Impact to Change an Existing Program

Indicate programmatic or fiscal impact which this change will have on other academic units' programs, and describe the consultation that has occurred with affected units:

There will be no fiscal impact and no other programs will be affected by the change to our major. We do not anticipate any significant changes in the number of majors as a result of these changes.

Provide a fiscal analysis of the proposed changes:

Adding 3 units to the major will not require any budgetary changes. Our department already offers a large array of classes for both our majors and students in GE. Adding HIST 100R and HIST 133 will simply mean we cut back on some of our less popular, non-GE offerings for our majors.

How will the above changes be accommodated within the department/College existing fiscal resources?

There will be no need to increase the department budget or WTU allocation to accommodate these changes. Our current WTU allotment will be able to accommodate the addition of HIST 100R and HIST 133, and there are a number of tenure-line faculty available who can teach these courses.

Will the proposed changes require additional resources?

No

What additional space, equipment, operating expenses, library, computer, or media resources, clerical/technical support, or other resources will be needed?

HIST 100R will require students to engage in a research project, so they will be making additional use of existing library resources.

Estimate the cost and indicate how these resource needs will be accommodated:

The changes to the History major should not incur any costs.

Michelle Felten (mfelten) (Wed, 21 Sep 2022 18:38:26 GMT): Hello Jeffrey, The A&L committee has voted to approve your BA History proposal pending the following suggested edits: 1.) Learning out comes can be more more progressive specifically noting the repeated usage of the word "apply". Progressions maybe "Synthesize", "Apply", and "Demonstrate". 2.) Units need to be edited to reflect program changes from currently 42 to 45 units. Also it is noted this proposal will be sent forward with the New Course proposal for HRS 100R. Thank you, Michelle Janett Torset (torsetj) (Fri, 30 Sep 2022 17:29:41 GMT): Rollback: Rolled back for further edits at the request of the Arts and Letters College Curriculum Committee.
