Minor in Philosophy

Designation: (degree terminology)

Minor

Briefly describe the program proposal (new or change) and provide a justification:

The Philosophy Minor currently requires 18 units, 9 of which must be specific lower-division courses, and 9 of which must be upper-division. We believe the requirement to take specific lower-division courses is too restrictive and may be an unnecessary obstacle to timely graduation. Philosophy has many upper-division GE courses that have no prerequisites, and we would like students to be able to use more than 3 of them in satisfaction of the minor if they so desire. Consequently, we are revising the minor to eliminate the lower-division requirements. The minor will now simply require 18 units, 9 of which must be upper-division. (Note: Please examine Schematic Overview of Program Changes which has been attached as an additional unrequested document.)

Catalog Description:

Units required for Minor: 18

Program Description

The subject of philosophy encompasses such fundamental issues as the scope and limits of human knowledge, the ultimate constituents of reality, the sources of value and obligation, and the nature of logic and correct reasoning. Philosophy utilizes the findings of many other academic disciplines and, in its method, stresses clear, rigorous, impartial and systematic thought. The application of philosophical ideas to practical problems is central to the subject.

Note: Students who minor in Philosophy are free to plan a sequence of courses suited to their individual needs and interests. However, for a given major, the Department offers certain courses that have particular relevance. Contact Department advisors for course recommendations.

Admission Requirements: Course prerequisites and other criteria for admission of students to the degree major program, and for their continuation in it.
