Course Deactivation Proposal

Last edit: Tue, 24 Oct 2023 16:01:06 GMT

Changes proposed by: Wayne Linklater (223005380)

Justification for this deactivation request

The Department of Environmental Studies has developed a new course called Environmental Justice (ENVS 170 - recently approved) which develops the topic of social justice but in a way better aligned with the Department's other curriculum and its program learning objectives. ENVS 124 has not been taught by the Department for at least the previous 6 years and, with the addition of ENVS 170, it is rendered redundant. Replaced by ENVS 170, ENVS 124 no longer meets a student need.

Course Description: (Not to exceed 80 words and language should conform to catalog copy.)
Examines the nature and forms of social justice and injustice. Addresses key philosophical and theoretical models and debates over the meaning of social justice, using historical and contemporary examples to highlight important concepts and controversies. Faculty from different departments within SSIS, and occasionally from other colleges, will address how their discipline understands and analyzes issues of social justice. Students will be encouraged to critically assess the assumptions of various perspectives on social justice, and to address the relationship of academe and social activism in achieving social justice.
Cross listed as ANTH 130, ID 124, ETHN 124, FACS 124 and SOC 124. Only one may be counted for credit.
