Justification for course proposal:

The Art History program is revising all of our upper-division art history courses in order to better align course ELOs with the program's learning outcomes, make our prerequisites more flexible and accurate, and balance the number of GE courses in the various areas of the program.

For ART 117A, specifically, the following changes are requested:

- Accurately displaying how often the course is offered: This course is only offered during the fall term of odd years, not every fall.

- Removing this course from GE: Historically, Art History program courses were rather haphazardly added to GE, based on a perception of which ones needed help filling. This has led to curricular imbalance. None of the art history Group 1 courses (European art) are in GE, while almost all of the Group 2 (Asian art) and Group 3 (Art of the Americas) courses are. This means that students who focus on European art receive more in-depth instruction and complete assignments that require increased expertise and skill, while students who study Asian or American art, including Latin American art, take most of their major courses as less advanced GE courses. As a result, we have had very few students who want to focus on Asian or American art go on to graduate study. The vast majority of art history students who have gone to graduate school in recent years have focused on European art. We are requesting to REMOVE this course from GE to address this imbalance.

- Changing the pre-requisite: Art History program has recently redesigned our entire lower-division art history curriculum, but the upper-division course pre-requisites were never altered to fit the new curriculum. ASIA 1 will be added as a pre-requisite to ensure that Asian Studies students can take this course.

- Changing course description: We'd like to provide more information in all of our upper-division courses to give students a more detailed idea of what the course will cover. The curriculum itself is not changing; the new course description is just more reflective of what is being taught.

- Edited ELOs - When Art History was elevated to its own BA, we wrote new Program Learning Outcomes. We revised our lower-division course ELOs to be in alignment with these new PLOs, so we are now aligning upper-division courses as well. Again, the curriculum is not changing, but we are doing a better job of writing ELOs that accurately reflect the curriculum.

Note: Asian Studies will also be affected by changes to this course, but they can't be listed in the question below because they are not a department. We have provided consultation with Asian Studies.

Course Description: (Not to exceed 90 words and language should conform to catalog copy.)

This course explores the history of Indian and Southeast Asian art from ancient times to the premodern period, examining the development of traditional forms such as Buddhist and Hindu sculpture, temple architecture, manuscript painting, and textiles, as well as the influences of religious, political, and cultural exchanges across the region. It also considers the evolution of artistic traditions in response to shifting dynastic, colonial, and global contexts.

Reviewer Comments:

PJ Carlino (pj.carlino) (Thu, 20 Mar 2025 00:30:48 GMT): Add Asian Studies in th field where it says "Indicate which department(s) will be affected by the proposed course." ELO 3 Remove "Identify and..." and being with "Interpret Cross-cultural exchanges" Update the consultation documents to include responses from the departments affected where possible. Small change - on the syllabus the a grade of 97% is included for both A and A+. Consider changing A range to end at 96%.

Jacqueline Irwin (irwin) (Thu, 20 Mar 2025 01:54:06 GMT): Rollback: Dear Rachel, Please see suggestions for revision from PJ. Once your proposal has been revised as per their recommendations, please resubmit and send me an email so I know that your proposal is ready to move forward.
