Ethnic Studies Department has developed 5 Learning Outcomes. This year in response to the feedback for the 2013-2014 Annual Assessment Report from the Directors of Office of Academic Program Review and Assessment, the department conducted a follow up assessment on program learning outcome Body of Skills. Critical, Thinking.

I. Bodies of Skills

A. Critical Thinking

1. Contrast and compare ethnic group experiences
2. Construct conclusions from a range of information
3. Predict outcomes based on known information

The department assessed the work of students in ETHN 195B, Seminar in Ethnic Studies. This is a required course taken by students in all concentrations within Ethnic Studies major. We continued the assessment effort with a Critical Thinking Rubric. Students will demonstrate a habit to formulate an opinion after a rigorous exploration of issues, ideas, and events before formulate an opinion or reaching conclusions; they will (PLO 6: Critical Thinking adopted from the VALUE rubric in Appendix A)

- 6.1 Critically consider the issues/concepts and state them clearly with unambiguous understanding
- 6.2 Evaluate and develop a comprehensive analysis and inferences that are informed by information from sources
- 6.3 Thoroughly, systematically and methodically analyze own and others' assumptions and carefully consider the relevance of context when presenting a position
- 6.4 Acknowledge complexities of issues in your position, conclusions and outcomes and take into account limit of positions and other points of view.
- 6.5 Predict informed outcomes and present conclusions that are logical and reflect informed evaluation and ability to place evidence and perspective discussed in priority order (1.5 Conclusions and related outcomes)

For example, in what course(s) or by what means were data collected (see Attachment II)? While there were a few exceptions, students enrolled in this course either graduated in Spring 2015 or are scheduled to graduate at the end of the Fall 2016 semester. As a required course for all concentrations within the Ethnic Studies major this course is viewed by faculty in the department as a capstone course taken concurrently with ETHN 195A (Fieldwork in Ethnic Studies). Throughout the years we have had program directors and the chair as a team to complete the assessment, this year it was a team of two. The team met to discuss the scores on the assignment and the result of the exit survey. Dr. James Sobredo completed the survey analysis. Since this is the third time that we have assessed Critical Thinking Skills as per recommendations of the University Assessment Team, we have gained useful insights into students' critical skills and are in a good position to strengthen our curriculum. The exit survey also provided insight of outcomes. Next year we will assess a different PLO Body of Skills: Communication Skills (oral) and comply with the department's stated future plans as reflected in the Self Study. In giving recommendations we hope the University Assessment Team will take this into consideration since for three years we have followed their recommendations and delayed our assessment of oral communication skills.

Question 4: Data, Findings and Conclusions

Q4.1. Please provide simple tables and/or graphs to summarize the assessment data, findings, and conclusions: (see Attachment III) [Word limit: 600 for selected PLO]

Data for the Critical Thinking ability of our ETHN 195B Majors is represented in Table 1:

TABLE 1: The Result for Critical Thinking Skills

Five Criteria (Areas)	Capstone 4	Milestone 3	Milestone 2	Benchmark 1	Total (N=10)
1.1: Explanation of Issues	70%	25%	5%		(100%, N=10%)
1.2: Evidence	75%	20%	5%		(100%, N=10%)
1.3: Influence of Content and Assumptions	60%	20%	10%	10%	(100%, N=10%)
1.4 Student's Position	65%	10%		25%	(100%, N=10%)
1.5 : Conclusions and Related Outcomes	70%	20%	10%		(100%, N=10%)

Students were asked to address 1, 3, and 4 of the above learning objectives within a 5-page writing assignment with the following prompt: “Critically evaluate Boatamo Mosupyoe’s article “The Intersection of Race, Class and Gender” in Introduction to Ethnic Studies, edited by Baker, Mosupyoe, Figueroa, and Mark (Kendall Hunt, 2011). In your analysis compare your understanding of the concept of intersectionality with that of the author and evaluate how assumptions about race, class and gender affect formulations of policies, attitudes, and communities.

Based on the standard and criteria 6.1 to 6:5 in the Critical Thinking Rubric in Appendix A, 70% of our students were able to think critically and explain the theory and how it affects the formulation of policies, attitudes and communities. In particular 70% of students were able to effectively describe how intersectionality has functioned to shape discriminatory laws and created gender and class imbalances among different ethnic groups in the USA (6.1). The main issue for the students identified with Milestone scores was having a sense of organization to cohesively discuss findings rather than report out their findings. Some terms were also undefined. The majority of students validated their interpretations and evaluation by information from sources (6.2). Only 5% lacked the ability to develop a coherent analysis based on information from sources (6.2).

60% of the students effectively balanced their own assumption with those of others. Specifically they were able to evaluate how their own biases can affect their conclusions. Students that scored 2 are still developing the ability to identify contexts when presenting a position. In terms of the student that scored 1, they began the written discussion but never completed their thoughts (6.3).

The CTR scores of the summative assessments for the Student’s Position criterion (6.4) reveal the majority of students were on the side of mastery (4-Capstone) or developing mastery (3/2Milestone). 25% were developing a discussion towards addressing the prompt but did not either state a specific position or where they did, it was very simplistic. In this instance again, the CTR scores of the summative assessments for the Conclusion and related outcome criterion (6.5) reveal the majority of students were on the side of mastery (4-Capstone) or developing mastery (3/2 Milestone). The conclusions and related outcomes (consequences and implications) are logical and reflect student’s informed evaluation and ability to place evidence and perspectives discussed in priority order. 10% students’ Conclusions were inconsistently tied to some of the information discussed and related outcomes (consequences and implications) are oversimplified (6.5)

Thus we can safely conclude that the CTR scores of the summative assessments of reflection papers reveal the majority of students were on the side of mastery (4-Capstone) or developing mastery (3/2 Milestone).

Q4.2. Are students doing well and meeting program standard? If not, how will the program work to improve student performance of the selected PLO?

To best answer this question the history below is in order:

2012-2013

In her Executive Summary Feedback, the Director of Office of Academic Program Review and Assessment recommended that Department of Ethnic Studies continue progress on developing assessment plans for minors and concentrations. To that effect, in order to achieve an overall programmatic assessment, in this circle we engaged in a holistic plan of action that expanded to cover both our core BA curriculum and BA concentrations. We implemented the changes by collecting data from Ethnic 110 Asian Americans, Status and Identity; Ethnic 130, Chicano/Mexican American Experience; Ethnic 140 Native American Experience; and Ethnic 170 Pan African Studies, in addition to a capstone course (Ethnic 195 Fieldwork in Ethnic Studies).

RESULTS

The CTR scores of the summative assessments in all the programs and the capstone class reveal the majority of students were on the side of mastery (4-Capstone) or developing mastery (3/2 Milestone).

2013-2014

This academic year the chair attended a year- long Assessment Training. The recommendation from the training and from the Directors of Office of Academic Program Review and Assessment was for Ethnic Studies to assess the same PLO in a capstone course. The department thus focused its assessment efforts on Critical Thinking in Content Mastery, Area C: Concepts and Theories/Old and New in Ethnic Studies. The course was Ethnic 195B. As a result of information gained from the training, we included papers from portfolios and a survey as part of our direct measures to collect data.

RESULTS

The CTR scores of the summative assessments in capstone class reveal the majority of students were on the side of mastery (4-Capstone) or developing mastery (3/2 Milestone).

The department has complied with the recommendation of Directors of Office of Academic Program Review and Assessment. We feel it is time now to move to assessing a different PLO that is Communication Skill (oral) to also comply with the objectives we set forth in our Self Study.

Q4.3. For selected PLO, the student performance:

- 1. Exceeded expectation/standard
- 2. Met expectation/standard
- 3. Partially met expectation/standard
- 4. Did not meet expectation/standard
- 5. No expectation or standard has been specified
- 6. Don't know

Question 5: Use of Assessment Data (Closing the Loop)

Q5.1. As a result of the assessment effort in 2014-2015 and based on the prior feedback from OAPA, do you anticipate making any changes for your program (e.g., course structure, course content, or modification of PLOs)?

1. Yes
 2. No (Go to Q6)
 3. Don't know (Go to Q6)

Q5.1.2. Do you have a plan to assess the impact of the changes that you anticipate making?

1. Yes
 2. No
 3. Don't know

Q5.1.1. Please describe what changes you plan to make in your program as a result of your assessment of this PLO. Include a description of how you plan to assess the impact of these changes. [Word limit: 300 words]

We will continue to make students aware of learning goals at advising. We will also continue to encourage students to save their assignments from all the core courses in preparation for ETHN 195B as they reach the end of their undergraduate path

We will develop signature assignments in core courses. This will facilitate the assessment of papers in portfolios when students take Ethn 195B

We plan to assess a different PLO so that we assess where our program needs to be strengthened. Three assessments on Critical Thinking have established that our students meet performance expectations in this area.

Q5.2.1. Please provide a detailed example of how you used the assessment data above.

Initiated discussions of how the CTR allows us to have starting point to address faculty learning curves regarding the utilization of rubrics, but aim for the creation of a rubric that will more responsively speak to the nature and discipline of Ethnic Studies. We also use the assessment data to improve our classroom teaching and to effectively collaborate between the programs.

Additional Assessment Activities

Q6. Many academic units have collected assessment data on aspects of a program that are not related to PLOs (i.e., impacts of an advising center, etc.). If your program/academic unit has collected data on the program elements, please briefly report your results here. [Word limit: 300]

Assessing Other Program Learning Outcomes (Optional)

If your program assessed PLOs not reported above, please summarize your assessment activities in the table below. If you completed part of the assessment process, but not the full process (for example, you revised a PLO and developed a new rubric for measuring it), then put N/A in any boxes that do not apply.

Standards of Performance for Education Technology (iMet) Graduate Students

Q2.3. If your program has an explicit standard(s) of performance for the selected PLO, describe the desired level of learning: Seventy percent (70 %) of our students will score 3.0 or above using the VALUE rubric by the time they graduate from the four semester program.

²Critical Thinking Value Rubric

Criterion	Capstone 4	Milestone 3	Milestone 2	Benchmark 1
6.1: Explanation of issues	Issue/problem to be considered critically is stated clearly and described comprehensively, delivering all relevant information necessary for full understanding.	Issue/problem to be considered critically is stated, described, and clarified so that understanding is not seriously impeded by omissions.	Issue/problem to be considered critically is stated but description leaves some terms undefined, ambiguities unexplored, boundaries undetermined, and/or backgrounds unknown.	Issue/problem to be considered critically is stated without clarification or description.
6.2: Evidence Selecting and using information to investigate a point of view or conclusion	Information is taken from source(s) with enough interpretation/evaluation to develop a comprehensive analysis or synthesis.	Information is taken from source(s) with enough interpretation/evaluation to develop a coherent analysis or synthesis.	Information is taken from source(s) with some interpretation/evaluation, but not enough to develop a coherent analysis or synthesis.	Information is taken from source(s) without any interpretation/evaluation. Viewpoints of experts are taken as fact, without question.
6.3: Influence of context and assumptions	Thoroughly (systematically and methodically) analyzes own and others' assumptions and carefully evaluates the relevance of contexts when presenting a position.	Identifies own and others' assumptions and several relevant contexts when presenting a position.	Questions some assumptions. Identifies several relevant contexts when presenting a position. May be more aware of others' assumptions than one's own (or vice versa).	Shows an emerging awareness of present assumptions (sometimes labels assertions as assumptions).
6.4: Student's position (perspective, thesis/hypothesis)	Specific position (perspective, thesis/hypothesis) is imaginative, taking into account the complexities of an issue. Limits of position (perspective, thesis/hypothesis) are acknowledged. Others' points of view are synthesized within position.	Specific position (perspective, thesis/hypothesis) takes into account the complexities of an issue. Others' points of view are acknowledged within position (perspective, thesis/hypothesis).	Specific position (perspective, thesis/hypothesis) acknowledges different sides of an issue.	Specific position (perspective, thesis/hypothesis) is stated, but is simplistic and obvious.
6.5: Conclusions and related outcomes (implications and consequences)	Conclusions and related outcomes (consequences and implications) are logical and reflect students' informed evaluation and ability to place evidence and perspectives discussed in priority order.	Conclusion is logically tied to a range of information, including opposing viewpoints; related outcomes (consequences and implications) are identified clearly.	Conclusion is logically tied to information (because information is chosen to fit the desired conclusion); some related outcomes (consequences and implications) are identified clearly.	Conclusion is inconsistently tied to some of the information discussed; related outcomes (consequences and implications) are oversimplified.

Standards and Achievement Targets: 70 % of our first year graduate students should score 3 or above by the time of their graduation.

Appendix II: Key Assessment for the iMET Program Culminating Experience Report

Culminating Experience Report (Action Research Report): The main task in action research is to design and implement a study using data collection tools that will allow you to "show" the reader what happened during and as a result of your intervention. After collecting your data, you will sort through your findings, looking for bits of data that reveal some information pertinent to your study. You then look for relationships (patterns) between these bits or pieces. The patterns that emerge from a variety of sources such as things that happen, things that you observe, things that people say and things that you measure result in your findings (conclusions).

Appendix III: Key Assessment for the iMET Program ePortfolio

The iMET culminating experience is an ePortfolio consisting of:

1. Abstract: Simply put, the portfolio abstract is an introduction to your e-portfolio. The basic components of the abstract includes elements such as:
 - a welcome to the reader
 - an overview of the portfolio components
 - an introduction to the navigation of the portfolio
2. Process: The process section of the portfolio consists of a personal reflection on your experience of the iMET program and a resume. In addition, many students include a narrative of their teaching history and philosophy in this section.
3. Products: In the product section of the portfolio, you link artifacts (products) you have created during your time in the program. Each product you include in the product section must be accompanied by:
 - a description of how the product was conceived (what was the individual or group process that led to the creation of the product).
 - a description of how technology and teaching strategies were utilized
 - standards covered by the use of the product
 - feedback on the product you have received from received 2 peers and 1 faculty on your project
 - Most portfolio's contain at least 3-5 Artifacts
4. Report: Literature Review and Action Research

Literature Review: The goal of the literature review is to introduce your readers to your research by synthesizing for them what has been written about your area of focus. It is also a place where you address the educational theories that motivated the design of your research. Ultimately, the review of literature should set the stage for your discussion of your research. Also remember that, though you can use a variety of sources, it is very important to share primary sources of information.

Action Research: The main task in action research is to design and implement a study using data collection tools that will allow you to "show" the reader what happened during and as a result of your intervention. After collecting your data, you will sort through your findings, looking for bits of data that reveal some information pertinent to your study. You then look for relationships (patterns) between these bits or pieces. The patterns that emerge from a variety of sources such as things that happen, things that you observe, things that people say and things that you measure result in your findings (conclusions).
