Q1.2.

Please provide more detailed background information about EACH PLO you checked above and other information such as how your specific PLOs are explicitly linked to the Sac State BLGs:

For the 2015-2016 annual assessment, the department's undergraduate programs in Recreation and Park Management, and Recreation Therapy focused on the "group dynamics" requirement of the senior portfolio. This area is parallel to the "team work" PLO and for some of the projects, also encompasses the "civic knowledge and engagement" PLO. Because not all student groups were required to complete a project that would be defined as "civic engagement," this report will analyze the "team work" PLO. This PLO also applies to our accreditation outcome, 7.02: Students graduating from the program shall be able to demonstrate the ability to design, implement and evaluate services that facilitate targeted human experience and cultural dimension of diversity. Please see the attached (at the end of this report) table for the link to BLGs. Do you have rubrics for your PLOs? 1. Yes, for all PLOs 2. Yes, but for some PLOs 3. No rubrics for PLOs O 4. N/A 5. Other, specify: Are your PLOs closely aligned with the mission of the university? 1. Yes O 2. No 3. Don't know Is your program externally accredited (other than through WASC Senior College and University Commission (WSCUC))? 1. Yes 2. No (skip to Q1.5) 3. Don't know (skip to Q1.5) If the answer to Q1.4 is yes, are your PLOs closely aligned with the mission/goals/outcomes of the accreditation agency? 1. Yes O 2. No 3. Don't know Did your program use the Degree Qualification Profile (DQP) to develop your PLO(s)? O 1. Yes 2. No, but I know what the DQP is 3. No, I don't know what the DQP is 4. Don't know

22.1. Select ONE(1) PLO here as an example to illustrate how you conducted assessment (be sure you checked the correct box t	-
his PLO in Q1.1):	U
Team Work
Ω2.1.1.
Please provide more background information about the specific PLO you've chosen in Q2.1.
Team work is present in several courses in RPTA for both the RPM and RT concentrations. For the past academic year, we used the RPTA 136: Recreation and Event Programming course to measure (group dynamics) team work. The prerequisite for RPTA 136, RPTA 32: Leadership and Group Development, could also have been used.
RPTA 136 requires students to design, implement and evaluate a community event. Often these events are created for non-profit agencies and result in raising money for an organization such as the Mustard Seed School for homeless children. RPM students interested in non-profit administration, and RT students typically create events of this type. Students focused on hospitality, however, may choose to create an event that is less civically minded and more designed to promote an agency (a wine club event at a winery is an example of this).	,
22.2. Has the program developed or adopted explicit standards of performance for this PLO? 1. Yes 2. No 3. Don't know 4. N/A 22.3. Please provide the rubric(s) and standards of performance that you have developed for this PLO here or in the appendix.
See attached. The results here are from the same course as the RPM students. This course is core to both concentrations.

Much of this has been given, but the RPTA 136 course and its prerequisite, RPTA 32, both collect data for this PLO. Beginning in 2013, our national accreditation changed to an assessment-based model, and only the upper level courses (where a learning outcome was mastered) were required. To simplify our data collection, we have eliminated much of the lower division data collection for our learning outcomes and only 136 will be used for this report (and our accreditation updates).

Q3.6.

How did you select the sample of student work (papers, projects, portfolios, etc.)?

All students are required to complete the assignment. Our accreditation requires that all students are evaluated. We used the same sample for this report.

6. Advisory board surveys, focus groups, or interviews
7. Other, specify:
Q3.7.1.1. Please explain and attach the indirect measure you used to collect data: All student internships require a final project. For some students, depending on the location, this may be a program or event that involves team work. It's not required that team work be involved, and therefore this indirect measure isn't applicable to the sample used for the direct measure. Accreditation requires that we analyze the data for the internship supervisors' evaluation of student interns, but this data may include interns that had very different final projects.

Q3.7.2. If surveys were used, how was the sample size decided? All internship supervisors are encouraged to complete the survey.

Q4.2.

Are students doing well and meeting the program standard? If not, how will the program work to improve student performance of the selected PLO?

RPTA Overarching Learning
Outcomes tied to Baccalaureate
Learning Outcomes

Competence in the

Disciplines: The ability to demonstrate the competencies and values listed below in at least one major field of study and to demonstrate informed understandings of other fields, drawing on the knowledge and skills of disciplines outside the major.

Knowledge of Human Cultures and the Physical and Natural World through study in the sciences and mathematics, social sciences, humanities, histories, languages, and the arts. Focused by engagement with big questions, contemporary and enduring.

Intellectual and Practical Skills, Including: inquiry and analysis, critical, philosophical and creative thinking, written and oral communication, quantitative literacy, information literacy, teamwork and problem solving, practiced extensively, across the curriculum, in the context of progressively more challenging problems, projects, and standards for performance.

RPTA has based its department assessment outcomes on the national accreditation standards, and the department's outcomes are also designed to meet the university's Baccalaureate Learning Goals. The department identified four learning outcomes to connect with the Baccalaureate Learning Goals and these outcomes were also used in the Department's SCIPP document. The four outcomes include:

1. Students will have an understanding of and ability to apply personnel administration/management techniques, including job analysis, recruitment, selection, training, motivation, career development and evaluation of staff and volunteers.

The recreation, parks and tourism industry is a wide, loosely associated set of industries and fields that provide experiential products to the public. These agencies can be managed using a variety of different techniques, that can be grouped into those that fall under government administration (National Parks, National Forests, Army Corps of Engineers lands, Bureau of Land Management, State Parks, etc.), nonprofit administration (Girl Scouts, Boys Clubs, YMCAs, etc.), and for-profit or private administration (resorts, hotels, cruise lines, etc.). However, many students find themselves in situations where administration (and the associated funding/budgeting, marketing and legal issues) and not so clearly divided. A ski resort, for example, may operate as a private business, but use National Forest lands. For this reason, students must be prepared to understand administration basics of several types of agencies.

Under our accreditation, this outcome has several subobjectives. The department's Advisory Committee as well as agency internship supervisors have supported this outcome as being essential to a degree in Recreation Administration. The standards emphasize that students can be effective administrators in a variety

Disciplines: Addressed by all four department outcomes. It is closely tied with the practical skills associated with administration, evaluation, assessment, programming and the knowledge required for a foundational understanding of the legal issues and legislative processes related to RPTA agencies (7.01, 7.02, 7.03, 7.04).

Knowledge of Human Cultures and the Physical and Natural World: Addressed most specifically in these courses: RPTA 30, 42, 106. Students take core courses in natural resource management that includes a study of the physical world related to outdoor recreation land management. In addition, human cultures are explored in core courses related to leisure theory and history and dealing with diverse populations and universal access to recreation. Students may further cultures and the natural world with elective courses related to tourism, the ecology of recreation areas, visitor management and diversity.

Intellectual and Practical

Personal and Social Responsibility, Including:

civic knowledge and engagement—local and global,* intercultural knowledge and competence, ethical reasoning and action, foundations and skills for lifelong learning anchored through active involvement with diverse communities and real-world challenges.

Integrative Learning, Including: synthesis and advanced accomplishment across general and specialized studies.

All of the above are demonstrated through the application of knowledge, skills, and responsibilities to new settings and complex problems.

*Understanding of and respect for those who are different from oneself and the ability to work collaboratively with those who come from diverse cultural backgrounds.

 Interdisciplinary learning, learning communities, capstone or senior studies in the General Education program and/or in the major connecting learning goals with the content and practices of educational programs of recreational settings. This outcome is measured in several core RPTA courses, including RPTA 30, 32, 42, 105, 106, 109, 166 and 183. This outcome is further developed in elective courses such as 151, 164 and 180.

2. Students are able to demonstrate skills in program strategies and will have the ability to organize and conduct leisure programs and services in a variety of recreation settings.

Programming is a broad term in the recreation fields that has to do with planning the use(s) of recreation space and resources. Programs are typically the manner in which recreation agencies produce revenue, and therefore students must be competent at creating, organizing, promoting, funding, executing and evaluating programs upon completing their education in RPTA. The NRPA accreditation standards have several outcomes based on the set of skills required for programming. Programming is typically the direct responsibility of students during their first jobs and the department focuses many resources on preparing the students to perform well as they enter the field. This outcome is taught in core courses, including RPTA 32, 42, 106 and 136, and is also developed further in elective courses such as RPTA 132, 139 and 149. Department alumni and agency internship supervisors have supported our belief that this outcome should be a core component of our program.

3. Students will have an understanding of principles and procedures for assessment, planning and evaluation of recreation programs and services.

The NRPA accreditation standards and several individual employers of our students have stressed the importance of students being able to conduct practical research for an agency, evaluate the data, and then present the data in both written and oral formats. As funding for recreation becomes more competitive, the ability to show concrete results for programs and products is increasingly important. Competency in this area is a primary focus for the department.

This outcome is addressed in the core courses, RPTA 105, 106, 136 and 110. Students are also taught more specific elements of assessment and evaluation in the elective courses of RPTA 180 and 182.

Skills: This relates to most closely to Baccalaureate outcomes and the RPTA portfolio. The RPTA student portfolio is completed by all RPTA undergraduates. The portfolio uses graded rubrics to measure student learning outcomes in three competency areas: oral skills (public presentations), written skills (formal written paper) and group work (team leadership and group dynamics administration). Students also are exposed to numerous opportunities for creative thinking and problem solving (both individually and in groups), and take core classes in information literacy (RPTA 110) and quantitative literacy (RPTA 160).

Personal and Social Responsibility: This relates to Baccalaureate Outcomes number 4. Students are required to know the legal and legislative foundations for administration (RPTA 105, 160), in addition to issues of inclusion and working with diverse populations and persons with disabilities (RPTA 106). More than one core course in the major requires students to volunteer at community agencies and plan programs for agencies in the community. In addition to the class requirements, all students are required to complete 600 pre-internship hours prior to the 400 hour internship for Recreation and Park Management and 560 for including GE, departmental majors, the co-curriculum and assessments.

4. Students will have knowledge of the legal foundations and responsibilities of leisure service agencies, and of the legislative process and the impact of policy formation on leisure behaviors and service in all levels of government, community organizations, and business enterprise.

This outcome is anchored in the NRPA accreditation standards. Most recreation programs nation-wide have incorporated legal and legislative concerns in several courses and have also developed courses specifically on this topic. In addition to legislative processes which form the foundation for establishing government and many non-profit agencies, students are also required to be familiar with the advocacy process. Recreation, park and tourism agencies are very susceptible to law suits and liability issues as many of our facilities provide experiential products which may encourage risk-taking behaviors. Students must be keenly aware of how to protect the agency and also the public. Beginning in the 2010 catalog, the department added a new legal issues core course, RPTA 160, which had been an elective prior to its inclusion in the core. In addition, students are exposed to legislative processes that affect recreation in RPTA 30, 105, 106 and 166. Students are also exposed to legal foundations in RPTA 30, 105 and 136. Students can also take the elective courses, RPTA 164 and 180, which have further learning outcomes related to this NRPA standard.

Recreation Therapy.

Integrative Learning: This relates to mostly to the first, second and fourth outcomes. The RPTA internship requirements (RPTA 195) and the advanced administration workshop (RPTA 166) are required by all Recreation and Park Management Students. These courses (as well as capstone elective courses such as 185) require a synthesis and application of numerous skills from previous courses and preinternship experiences.
