Sacramento State has a proud history of producing outstanding leaders in health and human services who serve our community and the greater good. With more than 40,000 alumni from the College of Health & Human Services (HHS), our graduates are driving forward numerous sectors of society that positively impact the health and well-being of millions in our region.

Our faculty, staff, and students are devoted to creating a better tomorrow through their work in public health, criminal justice, social work, parks and recreation, tourism, physical therapy, kinesiology, nursing, and communication sciences and disorders.

Building a high-level of health and human services programs in our region starts with a high-quality education. The college’s faculty are recognized for their expertise as teachers, scholars, and practitioners. Our faculty also serve as important role models for students as they advance in their careers in fields that are critical to society.

We invite you to partner with HHS and elevate our impact for the betterment of our region, state, and world.
Campaign Priorities

Center for Health Practice, Policy & Research (CHPPR)

- Support for the continuous investment in the latest technology for our students, faculty, staff, and research in the health care professions.
- Lab enhancements and renovation, including the latest simulation technology, used for hands-on education and training.
- Provide the highest quality of specialized training to prepare students for success in a fast-moving health care field.
- Increase the capacity of existing clinics and add new clinical services.
- Support a new doctoral program in audiology.
- Provide support for faculty research.
- Allow opportunities for community engagement through education forums, conferences, interprofessional training, and more.

Endowed Professorships

- Create new and enhance existing health care faculty positions.
- Empower educators with important resources for the continued delivery of academic excellence.
- Support faculty transitioning from health care practice to academia.

Criminal Justice Law Enforcement Candidate Scholars (LECS) Program

- Provide important funds to implement programs to train students to be future law enforcement professionals who are culturally responsive.
- Provide scholarship support to LECS students, allowing them to pursue their dreams of a career in law enforcement.

Africa Peace Fellows Endowment

- Provide important funds to implement programs that educate and promote peace and conciliation among African and African-American families, organizations, community groups, and governments, both in the United States and in Africa.
- Provide funding for a cohort of students to participate in an advanced level conflict resolution certificate training program designed to ultimately create a robust cadre or network of the new generation of African peace leaders. The peace fellows will ultimately, deliberately, and strategically be dedicated to promoting the societal goal of building a culture of peace.
- Conduct research and serve as a resource center in conflict resolution for world issues.

Olivia Tran wants to do more than just study nursing. She is driven to become a nurse practitioner and help impoverished communities get the medical relief that they desperately need. As a recent transfer student into the School of Nursing, she was pleased and honored to receive a 2019 Alumni Association Scholarship.

Olivia transferred to Sacramento State for its high-quality education and support of student success. As a first-generation student, her experiences at Sacramento State have inspired her to do more. “Whenever possible, I volunteer and give back to the community that has given so much to me. I look forward to being able to expand my impact to a global level.”

Now more than ever, we ask for your support to encourage and acknowledge students like Olivia. Pursuing a degree in the demanding Health and Human Services discipline takes ongoing sacrifice and is essential to the life of our community.

ABOUT ON THE RISE
The goal of the $225 million On the Rise campaign is to amplify Sacramento State’s impact in the region, the state, and the world, by doubling our current level of private support. The campaign has three priorities: supporting students through increased financial aid and student programs; advancing knowledge through innovative learning approaches; and strengthening the larger Sacramento community through diverse, engaged, and impactful teaching and research.

On the Rise campaign is committed to uplifting generations of people in an equitable and sustainable way.
