

Scholarship & Publications

Richard Marens

Professor, Management

Peer-reviewed Journals

Marens, R. (2013). "Calling in a Debt: Government's Role in Creating the Capacity for Explicit Corporate Social Responsibility". Business and Society Review, 18, 143-169. [Accepted: December 2012, Published: April (2nd Quarter/Spring) 2013, Submitted: October 2012]

Marens, R. (2013). "What Comes Around: The Early 20th Century American Roots of Legitimizing Corporate Social Responsibility". Organization, 20, 454-476. [Accepted: October 2012, Published: April (2nd Quarter/Spring) 2013, Submitted: May 2012]

Marens, R. (2012). We don't need you anymore: corporate social responsibilities, executive class interests, and solving Mizruchi's puzzle. Seattle University Law Review, 35(4), 1189-1225. [Accepted: April 2012, Published: July (3rd Quarter/Summer) 2012, Submitted: December 2011]

Marens, R. (2011). Speaking Platitudes to Power: Observing Business Ethics in an Age of Institutional Turmoil. Journal of Business Ethics, 94, 239-253.

Marens, R. (in press). Generous in victory? American managerial autonomy, labor relations and the invention of corporate social responsibility. To appear in Socio-Economic Review.

Marens, R. (2010). Destroying the Village to Save it: Corporate Social Responsibility, Labor Relations, and the Rise and Fall of American Hegemony. Organization, 17(6), 743-766.

Other Intellectual Contributions

Marens, R. (in press). The Second Time Farce: Business School Ethics and the Emergence of "Bastard Rawlsianism". Oxford: Oxford Handbook of Sociology, Social Theory, and Organizational Studies: Contemporary Currents.

Presentations

Marens, R., Academy of Management Meeting, "Marx on the Morality of Capitalism," Orlando. (August 2013).

Marens, R., Academy of Management Meeting, "Second time Farce? Business School Ethics and the Emergence of Bastard Keynesianism," Orlando. (August 2013).

Marens, R., Academy of Management Meeting, "Call in the Debt: government's role in the creation of the corporation," Boston. (August 2012).

Marens, R., Academy of Management Meeting, "Can the Entire Academy ever get Anything Done?," Boston. (August 2012).

Marens, R., Berle Conference on Corporate Governance, "We Don't Need You Anymore: the solving of Mizruchi's Paradox," Adolph Berle Center, Seattle University. (January 2012).

Marens, R., Academy of Management Meeting, "Generous in Victory: American Managerial Autonomy, Labor Relations, and the Invention of CSR," San Antonio. (August 2011).

Marens, R., Labour Process Conference, "Destroying the village to Save it: Corp. social responsibilities and labor relations," Rutgers Campus, New Jersey. (March 2010).

Updated 8/27/14