DR. LUKE WOOD

President, California State University Sacramento

Dr. J. Luke Wood assumed the presidency of California State University, Sacramento (Sacramento State) on July 16, 2023, becoming the university's ninth permanent president. Born in Oakland, California, and raised in McCloud, a small town in Siskiyou County, Dr. Wood's life story embodies resilience and purpose. A former foster child and transracial adoptee, he grew up in a large foster home that served more than 350 children. He is also a two-time alumnus of Sacramento State, having earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the university.

Under President Wood's leadership, Sacramento State has reached historic milestones. The university has been designated a Research II institution, achieved its highest-ever graduation rates, and became the first Black-Serving Institution in the state of California. Enrollment has also surged, with the university welcoming the largest incoming classes in its history.

During his tenure, Sacramento State launched several nationally recognized initiatives, including the nation's first Black Honors College and the Wileety Native American College—both designed to provide students with enriched, culturally grounded educational experiences highlighting the history, life, and contributions of Black and Native American communities. In partnership with UFC Hall of Famer Urijah Faber, Dr. Wood also helped establish Combat U, the nation's first university-backed collegiate pathway in boxing and mixed martial arts.

Prior to his presidency, Dr. Wood served as Vice President for Student Affairs and Campus Diversity and Chief Diversity Officer at San Diego State University. As a faculty member there, his groundbreaking research on student success and equity—particularly concerning men of color—earned him the distinction of being the first Black Distinguished Professor in the university's 125-year history.

Dr. Wood has authored or edited 16 books and published more than 200 scholarly works. A Critical Race Theorist, his research focuses on racial equity in education, especially regarding community colleges and school discipline practices. His work has directly shaped state policy, informing two key laws: AB 740 (McCarty), which ensures foster children have their attorney and social worker involved in school suspension determinations, and SB 1984 (Weber Pierson), which discourages the use of student transfers to conceal suspension and expulsion data.

Dr. Wood holds a bachelor's degree in Black History and Politics and a master's degree in Higher Education Leadership from Sacramento State. He also earned an additional master's degree in Early Childhood Education and a Ph.D. in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies (Higher Education concentration) from Arizona State University. He is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., and a passionate boxing enthusiast who trains daily and spars regularly.

DR. AL-HASSAN CONTEH

Ambassador, University President, Demographer & Regional Scientist

Dr. Al-Hassan Conteh is Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Republic of Liberia to the United States of America. Before that, he served as Ambassador of Liberia to the Federal Republic of Nigeria, with concurrent accreditation to the Republics of Benin and Equatorial Guinea, and Liberia's Permanent Representative to the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS). He served as the Chairman of the ECOWAS Permanent Representative Committee and the Mediation and Security Council of ECOWAS at the Ambassadorial Level from 2017 to 2018. He was the Dean of West African Ambassadors and Deputy Dean of African Ambassadors in the Federal Republic of Nigeria. Dr. Conteh is also the Co-Chair of the Board of the Africa Peace Fellows Program at the Center for African Peace and Conflict Resolution at California State University, Sacramento. He served as Acting President of the University of Liberia from June 2024 to January 2025.

Prior to his Ambassadorial assignments, he served as the President of the University of Liberia (UL) from 2004 to 2008. During this period, he was a founding member of the Association of Liberian Universities, which he served as Vice President of Academic Programs from 2005 to 2008.

Before that, he was Research Fellow at the Solomon Asch Center for the Study of Ethnopolitical Conflict, at the University of Pennsylvania (Penn) USA, from January 2001 to December 2004. During this period, he served as Adjunct Professor at the University of Pennsylvania and Temple Universities in Philadelphia, USA, where he taught courses respectively on Understanding African Conflicts and African Development.

From 1996 to 2000, he was Vice President for Academic Affairs at the University of Liberia. While serving as the UL's Vice President, he also worked, from February 1997 to August 2000, as the Project Director of the United States Institute for Peace's project on Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) curriculum for post-war Liberian institutions. The UL and the Center for African Peace and Conflict Resolution of California State University, USA, jointly implemented this project.

Between June 1995 and September 1997, he served as the Director of the Demographic Unit, of the UL, where he managed a UNFPA, post-conflict education grant and developed a population studies curriculum and research program in collaboration with Government of Liberia's ministries, NGOs, and UN agencies, within the context of the UN Conference on Population and Development.

From February 1995 to May 1995, he worked for UNDP-Liberia as a Transfer of Knowledge through Expatriate Nationals (TOKTEN) Consultant at the University of Liberia. In this capacity, he conducted research on the causes of the Liberian civil war, and taught undergraduate courses in population, development, and statistics at the University of Liberia.

Between October 1987 and May 1988, he worked as Senior Project Officer at the International Foundation for Education and Self Help (IFESH) in Philadelphia, PA, USA. At IFESH, he assisted with the management of education, skills training, and agricultural training and development programs in eight sub-Saharan African countries. He conducted project appraisals and cost-benefit studies, assisted with the development of leadership training projects, provided first-level reviews of project proposals submitted for funding by African private, volunteer and donor organizations, supervised project staff, and developed impact assessment reports for IFESH. Previously, in 1981-1982, he served as Consultant for USAID and World Bank projects in Liberia for which he respectively conducted a grant study on the impact of USAID funding on previous Liberian grantees and prepared a research report with two UL colleagues on Monrovia markets.

As a scholar, his research includes “Boundaries and Conflict in the Mano River Region of West Africa,” (With Prof. Marilyn Silberfine of the Geography and Urban Studies Department of Temple University, Philadelphia, PA), Published in Conflict Management and Peace Science, Vol. 23, No. 4, pages 343-361 (2006); and “Environmental Risk Factors of Childhood Mortality in Liberia: Evidence and Policy Implications.” (with David P.H. and Bauni E.K.) Published in Determinants of Health and Mortality in Africa, Edited by Allan G. Hill. New York, New York, The Population Council, Demographic and Health Surveys [DHS], 1990.

Ambassador Conteh holds a Ph.D. degree in Regional Science and Demography from the University of Pennsylvania, a Master of Arts degree in Demography from the University of Pennsylvania, a Master of Philosophy degree in Demography from the United Nations Cairo Demographic Center, and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Geography and Demography from the University of Liberia.

Ambassador Conteh holds the following awards and honors:

- Doctor of Humane Letters (Honoris Causa) in International Relations. Conferred on him by the University of Liberia in December 2015 for his role in the re-development the university.
- Grand Commander, Order of the Star of Africa. Conferred by Government of Liberia, in July 2005, after he delivered the National Oration on the 158th Independence Anniversary of the Republic of Liberia.
- United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) Fellow, Cairo Demographic Center, Cairo, Egypt, 1978 – 1980.
- Fulbright Scholar, University of Pennsylvania, 1983 - 1987.

Dr. Conteh is an ardent subscriber to peace, democracy, patriotism, and the promotion of sustainable human development in Liberia, Africa and our one World.

JOHN L. BURRIS

Burris Nisenbaum Curry & Lacy | Partner

John L. Burris is an Oakland civil rights attorney specializing in police misconduct. He has represented over a thousand victims of such misconduct over the last 40 plus years including many death cases.

His work has resulted in reforms or new policies in the area of canine use, the use of deadly force, the use of hog tying and pepper spray, proper police treatment of the mentally impaired, public strip searching and tasers. In 2003, as co-counsel with Jim Chanin, Attorney Burris settled a class action suit against the Oakland Police Department.

During the case, referred to as the “Riders” they represented 119 plaintiffs. Aside from the 11 million settlement, part of the case settlement resulted in a court ordered monitor to facilitate specific reforms concerning racial profiling, use of deadly force, and disparate officer discipline within the Department.

He successfully represented over 20 South Asian women who were sexually assaulted by an on-duty police officer resulting in the officer’s criminal prosecution and series of departmental reforms to track officers’ whereabouts when on duty. He settled a jay walking case that resulted in many procedural justice reforms. In a public strip search cases he was co-counsel representing 40 African American men who were subject to public strip-searching. The case settled for $4 million plus. He has had other cases involving wrongful deaths related to police shooting of unarmed black men. Most recently in 2020 he and co-counsel settled a wrongful death case for $5.7 million on behalf of the family of a man was pursued by officers for a bicycle riding violation. Later in 20/21 he settled 5 cases for over 4 million dollars where young men were killed while in custody or unarmed. He received a jury award of 11 plus million dollars in a case where a young Vietnam man was shot in the back by a San Jose officer. He also received a jury award of $5.9 million for a man who had a gun and who was shot in the back as he tried to surrender. Also, in late 2021 and 2022, he settled two cases for $4.9 and $4.5 million respectfully where the same officer shot and killed two mentally impaired young men. That officer received a sentence of 6 years in state prison for unlawfully discharging his firearm multiple times into a moving car.

Attorney Burris has represented many high-profile clients during the course of his career including the Rodney King civil case, with a jury verdict of $3.8 million, Oscar Grant’s family settlement of $2.8 million (Fruitvale Station movie), the late rapper Tupac Shakur in his police brutality case, actor Delroy Lindo, NBA players Gary Payton and Jason Kidd, NFL player Keyshawn Johnson and a number of public officials and employees including the former police chief of San Francisco. Some of his most emotional and tragic criminal defense cases have involved the youngest person (6 years old) prosecuted for attempted murder, a female college student accused of neonaticide and the “cocaine mom” charged with murder of her newborn twins who died as she binged on cocaine.

Attorney Burris is a frequent speaker, panelist and lecturer on police and criminal justice issues. He is the author of Blue vs. Black: Let’s End the Conflict Between Cops and Minorities. Down through the years he has provided legal analysis for a number of national and local news media including MSNBC, CNN, and FOX News. For years he regularly hosted a weekly radio program on KDIA, entitled Legally Speaking.

He is married to retired law Professor Cheryl Amana Burris, North Carolina Central School Law, they have a blended family of 9 adult children, 20 plus grands and 5 plus great grands.

The Center for African Peace & Conflict Resolution (CAPCR) was established in 1996 at California State University, Sacramento, and housed in the College of Health of Human Services, to provide conflict resolution and reconciliation services for agencies, governments, institutions, businesses, civil society and community organizations and other groups through training, education, research, and intervention. CAPCR develops curricular/materials and provides training and services on mediation, negotiation, arbitration, restorative justice and other conflict resolution activities for governmental and non-governmental organizations, business and community groups, public and private agencies, educational institutions and allied professional associations (in Sacramento & Africa). The CAPCR mission aligns with the University's established mission of global education and community service, as well as campus current priorities of promoting diversity and inclusion, fostering community engagement as an anchor university, support for student success, and development of philanthropy. The annual international conference as well as peace awards, is a signature campus global program, with participants from more than 60 countries and 6 continents since the initial convening in 1992 under then African Studies Coalition, that led to the conceptualization and creation of the CAPCR in 1996.

A certificate of presentation/participation will be provided to the conference presenters. The conference ends with peace awards dinner which will be held on the evening of April 25, 2026, in support of an endowment for the Africa Peace Fellows to build the next generation of peace leaders, as well as a fundraiser in honor of the CAPCR 30th anniversary.

Please join us in the “30x30” Campaign!

CAPCR MILESTONE – “30 FOR 30” APPEAL

Dear CAPCR Friend, Partner, and Supporter of Peace,

Peace is not an accident. It is built through dialogue, through sacrifice, through years of quiet, dedicated, and diligent work, despite the challenges. In 1996, the Center for African Peace and Conflict Resolution (CAPCR) was established at California State University, Sacramento (Sacramento State) with exactly that belief. What began as a commitment to understanding and resolving conflicts in Africa has, over thirty years, grown into a movement that has positively touched the lives of peacebuilders, policy makers, crime victims, prison inmates, communities, and institutions in USA as well as Africa, and across the globe.

Over three decades, about 40,000 people from more than 60 countries and 6 continents have participated in the various CAPCR training workshops, conferences, seminars, peace awards, 50 student study abroad programs and faculty/teacher professional development exchanges in Africa, and more than 100 students have received its peace education scholarship, among other achievements. During same period, the CAPCR has hosted numerous dignitaries at Sacramento State, including sitting and former African presidents, chief justices, ambassadors, distinguished scholars, legislators, and prominent community leaders, and recognized over 100 unsung peace heroes through its renowned peace awards.

To mark this milestone, we are launching our “30 for 30” Anniversary Campaign — a collective effort by our team, alumni, and partners to raise $30,000 in honor of 30 years of peace education leadership and impact. This campaign is not just about a number, it is a celebration of every fellowship cohort, every publication, every training or conference, every crime victim and offender in our victim-offender dialogues, or inmates in our prison restorative justice circles, and every community or institution that has been touched by CAPCR’s work.

Your generous contribution will directly support:

- Our 30th Anniversary Commemoration Events: bringing together stakeholders, scholars, and practitioners to reflect on three decades of work and chart the path ahead;
- The new Africa Peace Fellowship- providing scholarships and training for the next generation of African peace leaders;
- Ongoing research and publication initiatives in restorative justice and conflict resolution;
- Enhance the sustainability of the ongoing CAPCR leadership transition plan;
- Student cultural enrichment programs and peace education scholarships.

We humbly ask you to join us in this historic moment. Whether you give $30 to represent each year of our journey, $300, $3,000, or any amount that reflects your belief in this mission. Your support matters profoundly. Every contribution brings us closer to our goal and affirms that the work of sustainable peace is never finished, and never without a community behind it.

Thirty years ago, someone believed in this work. Today, we ask you to be that believer for the next thirty years. Together, we can ensure that CAPCR continues to build bridges, train leaders, and advance peace, at local and international levels.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses, income, and any other financial activities. The document provides a detailed explanation of how to categorize these transactions and how to use a double-entry accounting system to ensure that the books balance. It also discusses the importance of regular reconciliations and the role of the accounting department in providing accurate and timely financial reports to management.

The second part of the document focuses on the practical aspects of bookkeeping. It provides a step-by-step guide to setting up a chart of accounts, which is a list of all the accounts used in the business. This chart is essential for organizing the financial data and for preparing the financial statements. The document also discusses the importance of using a consistent and logical numbering system for the accounts. Additionally, it provides a detailed explanation of how to record transactions in the general ledger and how to use T-accounts to visualize the debits and credits for each account. The document also discusses the importance of maintaining a separate ledger for each department or division of the business to facilitate the preparation of departmental financial statements.

The third part of the document discusses the preparation of the financial statements. It provides a detailed explanation of how to calculate the net income or loss for the period and how to prepare the income statement, balance sheet, and statement of cash flows. The document also discusses the importance of providing a clear and concise explanation of the results of the financial statements to management and other stakeholders. It provides a detailed explanation of how to analyze the financial statements and how to use the information to make informed business decisions. The document also discusses the importance of providing a clear and concise summary of the financial performance of the business for the period.
