SECTION 2 MA IN COMPOSITION, RHETORIC, AND PROFESSIONAL WRITING

2.1 CRPW MA OVERVIEW

The MA in Composition, Rhetoric, and Professional Writing (CRPW) is for students seeking to advance as writers in professional contexts or to teach at the high school or community-college level. The CRPW MA prepares students for careers in fields such as education, journalism, publishing, law, technical writing, advertising, arts administration, or civil service; or to pursue study at the doctoral level. Students in the program develop an understanding of writing as a process that requires critical analysis and inquiry, as well as self-reflection and metacognition. Students engage with research in the fields of composition, rhetoric, and professional writing. With that foundation, students design original research projects informed by appropriate conceptual and methodological frameworks. Students contribute original ideas to established bodies of knowledge and professional practice and demonstrate an ethically driven understanding of the ways in which all language is meaning-making, focusing especially within the contexts of academic and professional discourse communities.

2.2 CRPW MA LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. A working knowledge of praxis—the ways Rhetoric and Composition theory and practice inform one another
2. An ability to write clearly, effectively, and multimodally; to use rhetorical knowledge to inform writing process; to locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate evidence effectively; and to examine explicitly writing and thinking processes
3. An ability to theorize and practice a variety of writing classroom pedagogies
4. An ability to conduct research in Rhetoric and Composition using appropriate methods and methodological frameworks
5. An ability to join an on-going scholarly conversation and contextualize an original contribution through primary and secondary research
6. An ability to articulate the sociopolitical and sociocultural implications of researching and teaching literacy, composition, and rhetoric.

4.5 HOW TO ENROLL IN CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

Eligibility for certificate programs requires a student to be currently enrolled in a degree program at CSUS. To enroll in a certificate, please submit the following forms to the Office of Graduate Studies:

- Application for Certificate
- Academic Certificate Course Verification

To access these forms, visit the OGS website: <https://www.csus.edu/graduate-studies/current-students/forms.html> and select the forms from the OnBase menu.

SECTION 5 REGISTRATION

Registration takes place during designated dates in the semester before classes begin. Each student is assigned a registration-appointment date on which they can begin enrolling in classes through the Student Center on MySacState, which allows access to features including registration, wait listing, fee payment, financial-aid status, and holds.

STEPS TO REGISTRATION

- Obtain academic advising by visiting the Graduate Coordinator and/or your Program Coordinator. Consult the curriculum description for your discipline (see above in this handbook).
- Log onto MySacState to access your Student Center, where you will find your registration appointment.
- Before your registration appointment, be sure to clear any holds or outstanding fees. Continuing students register first and classes can fill quickly, so make sure you are ready to go before you register. Registration fees will not be due until after you enroll in classes.
- In your Student Center, select the courses in which you want to enroll. You will be immediately enrolled if there is a seat available in the class. If the section you request is full or cancelled, you may choose to register for the class wait list, if that option is available.
- The Late Registration and Change of Schedule period begins three weeks before the semester starts and continues through the second week of the semester.
- Note: Students cannot self-enroll in Engl 500. Please see instructions in this handbook for Engl 500 registration.

SECTION 6 ADVANCING TO CANDIDACY

Before you can enroll in ENGL 500 and begin your culminating experience, you must have an approved Advancement to Candidacy form on file with the Office of Graduate Studies (OGS). Only students who have completed the advancement requirements are eligible to begin the culminating experience.

The Advancement to Candidacy (ATC) form is available on the OGS website:

<https://www.csus.edu/graduate-studies/current-students/forms.html>. The form is routed automatically to the Graduate Coordinator and then to OGS through an online system called OnBase. On your ATC form, you will list all the required and elective courses that you have taken or plan to take in order to complete the 30 units necessary for the MA. Please follow the template for your program (see the appendices of this handbook).

Deadlines: The ATC form is typically due in the first week of the semester and must be submitted the semester before you plan to enroll in ENGL 500. The Graduate Coordinator is available to approve forms only during the academic year. Forms will not be processed during winter break, spring break, or over the summer.

Please note:

- To be eligible to advance to candidacy, you must have completed at least 12 units of your required MA coursework.
- Eligibility to advance to candidacy requires a minimum GPA of 3.0.
- You must fulfill your Graduate Writing Intensive requirement (GWI) before advancing (most students will fulfill the GWI by taking ENGL 200A or 220A and receiving a grade of “B” or higher).
- If you were admitted as a conditionally classified student, you must file a Classification Application with OGS prior to advancing to candidacy.
- Your ATC will not be approved if it includes courses for which you currently have a grade of Incomplete.
- No units with a grade lower than "C" can apply towards the degree.
- You must submit your ATC at least one semester before you plan to enroll in ENGL 500.
- If your coursework ultimately deviates from the courses that you list on your ATC, you must submit a Petition for Exception.

SECTION 7 THE CULMINATING EXPERIENCE: ENGL 500

To complete your degree, you will enroll in a two-unit culminating experience course: ENGL 500.

COMPOSITION, RHETORIC, AND PROFESSIONAL WRITING (CRPW)—THESIS

Students in the CRPW MA will write a thesis for the culminating experience. The thesis is an independent project for which the student will undertake original research in composition under the supervision of a two-person faculty committee. It is the responsibility of the student to arrange the thesis committee.

CREATIVE WRITING—COMPREHENSIVE EXAM

LITERATURE—COMPREHENSIVE EXAM OR THESIS

The culminating experience for the Literature concentration is ordinarily the comprehensive examination. Literature students who have earned a GPA of 3.7 or better in 21 units of graduate study may opt to fulfill the culminating experience requirement by writing a thesis, provided they have two faculty willing to read and direct the thesis. Students selecting the thesis option should be aware that most students take more than one semester to complete the thesis.

7.1 ELIGIBILITY TO ENROLL IN ENGL 500

Enrollment in ENGL 500 requires the following:

- An approved Advancement to Candidacy on file with the Office of Graduate Studies. Your transcript will indicate your Advancement to Candidacy after it has been officially approved.
- You must have completed, or be in the process of completing, all your graduate coursework during the semester in which you enroll in ENGL 500.
- Your transcript must include no more than one grade of Incomplete.

7.2 HOW TO ENROLL IN ENGL 500

To enroll in ENGL 500, you must first obtain permission from the English Graduate Coordinator, who will review your eligibility. Permission is obtained by submitting a “Permission to Enroll in 500” form to the Department. Once you submit the form, it will be routed to your thesis advisors for their signatures (if you are writing a thesis) and then to the Graduate Coordinator. Once the Graduate Coordinator approves your form, the Department staff will enroll you in ENGL 500.

Please note: the Graduate Coordinator is available to approve forms only during the academic year. Forms will not be processed during winter break, spring break, or over the summer.

Thesis Students (CRPW, Literature)

Please submit the “Permission to Enroll in 500—Thesis” form together with the following documents:

- A thesis contract, signed by two faculty advisors. Your first reader will furnish you with the contract, which sets out the expectations for completion of the thesis.
- A prospectus
- An unofficial copy of your CSUS transcript.

Note: Literature students must have a GPA of at least 3.7 to be eligible for the thesis option for ENGL 500.

Comprehensive Exam Students (Creative Writing, Literature)

Please submit the "Permission to Enroll in 500—Exam" form together with an unofficial copy of your CSUS transcript.

7.3 THE THESIS

The CSUS catalog defines the thesis as follows: "A thesis is the written product of the systematic study of a significant problem. It clearly identifies the problem; states the major assumptions; explains the significance of the undertaking; sets forth the sources for, and methods of gathering information; analyzes the data; and offers a conclusion or recommendation. The finished product must evidence originality, critical and independent thinking, appropriate organization and format, clarity of purpose, and accurate and thorough documentation." Many thesis projects in English are 60-75 pages in length, but you should consult with your faculty advisors on the length appropriate to your project.

Note: All CRPW students will write a thesis for the culminating experience. Literature students with a GPA of 3.7 or higher may elect to write a thesis or take the comprehensive exam for the culminating experience. The thesis option is not available to Creative Writing students.

7.4 THE THESIS COMMITTEE

Students completing a thesis for the culminating experience must arrange a committee of two faculty members who will serve as readers. The first reader will serve as the primary thesis advisor. Please consult both readers in advance as to their preferences for submission of drafts.

To locate advisors to serve on your thesis committee, please consult with the program coordinator for your discipline. Consider those faculty with whom you have taken courses and whose research and teaching interests align with your topic and methodology. Please note that thesis advising is an overload duty for which instructors receive no additional compensation. Your preferred advisor may not be available to serve on your thesis committee. Faculty advisors are also free to withdraw their participation from thesis supervision at any point, for any reason. Please also keep in mind that advisors typically are not available when the University is not in regular session. It is recommended that you begin seeking out advisors early in the program.

7.5 CRPW THESIS COMPONENTS

The Composition, Rhetoric, and Professional Writing thesis will include the following chapters:

- Chapter 1: Reflective Cover Essay

- Contextualizes the thesis and discusses the exigence for the project
- Chapter 2: Personal Professional Philosophy
 - A discussion of how CRPW ideas and theory shape the student's approach to professional work, whether teaching or industry
- Chapter 3: Annotated Bibliography
 - Grounds the project in a thorough review of scholarly literature
- Chapter 4: Journal Article/Professional Genre Portfolio
 - Demonstrates thorough knowledge of a specific area of the field, as well as the student's ability to perform high-level work germane to their professional goals.

7.6 THE THESIS PROSPECTUS

The prospectus offers an overview of your proposed study for your thesis. Typically, a prospectus will discuss the following:

- The focus and direction for the proposed study.
- The scope of the thesis. The prospectus will offer an overview of the thesis subject matter, including controversies or debate which may surround the topic, and it will describe how the thesis will approach the topic. It should delineate how many chapters the thesis will include and what material will be covered in those chapters.
- A critical overview of pertinent secondary materials.
- A bibliography of primary and secondary sources.

With some revision, the prospectus might serve as the basis for the first chapter of the thesis. Please consult your thesis advisors as to the appropriate length for your prospectus.

You will compose your prospectus prior to enrolling in ENGL 500. Once your two faculty advisors have indicated their approval of your prospectus, you will submit it to the Graduate Coordinator along with your signed thesis contract and your “Permission to Enroll in 500—Thesis” form.

7.7 ENGL 500: THE COMPREHENSIVE EXAM IN CREATIVE WRITING

To fulfill ENGL 500, Creative Writing MA students will take a uniform comprehensive examination at the end of their coursework. The purpose of the examination is to test the student's mastery of their special field of study. In preparation for the exam, Creative Writing students will conduct an intensive study of a range of selected works.

Students will be evaluated for imaginative writing specific to their genre, as theorists of the craft of imaginative writing specific to their genre, and as historians of the aesthetics of imaginative writing specific to their genre.

The Creative Writing Comprehensive Exam will be given once each semester. The exam is administered by a faculty committee, which will devise a reading list and exam topics, and will assess submitted exams. The reading list will be made available on the English Department website one year before the exam.

The Creative Writing Comprehensive Exam has two parts:

1. Students will produce a set amount of written work that meets the specifications as to the creative-writing genre and form set out by the 500 Examination Committee and announced to the examinees prior to the exam date. This work is to be submitted with the exam.
2. Students will complete a one-week take-home exam that tests their understanding of historical and theoretical issues in their discipline. The exam typically consists of a variety of questions concerning the material included in the master reading list.

In accordance with University Policy, students may attempt the exam a maximum of two times. Students who fail the exam on the first attempt may attempt it one additional time only. Creative Writing students who are enrolled in ENGL 500 must attend orientation meetings about the Culminating Exam and must meet with the Coordinator of Creative Writing.

7.8 ENGL 500: THE COMPREHENSIVE EXAM IN LITERATURE

To fulfill ENGL 500, most Literature students will take the Literature comprehensive examination (Literature students with a GPA of 3.7 or higher may opt to write a thesis instead). The purpose of the exam is to assess a student's mastery of their field of study in English.

The Literature Comprehensive Exam is administered in a take-home format once per semester. It typically consists of a set of essay prompts drawing from a list of literary and theoretical texts. Each semester's exam topics and rules are written by a faculty committee, which also assesses the submitted exams. The reading list is comprised of at least 40 primary texts and 5 theoretical or critical works and features works ranging across a wide span of historical periods of British and American literature. The reading list will be made available on the English Department website one year before the exam. Students should consult scholarly introductions—such as those included in the Norton Anthology—to gain basic familiarity with the authors and texts featured on the reading list. Students are expected to demonstrate an understanding of literary history and a knowledge of the historical and cultural contexts pertinent to texts included on the exam. Students also should familiarize themselves with the different genres and literary periods represented on the reading list.

Once a student submits the exam to the Graduate Coordinator, it will be assessed in a blind review by the Comprehensive Exam Committee. The Graduate Coordinator will inform students of the exam results. In accordance with University Policy, students may attempt the exam a maximum of two times. Students who fail the exam on the first attempt may attempt it one additional time only.

7.9 CONTINUOUS ENROLLMENT: ENGL 599

Most students taking either the Literature Comprehensive Exam or the Creative Writing Comprehensive Exam complete ENGL 500 in a single semester. Literature students writing a thesis often take more than one semester to finish.

Once you begin your culminating experience, the university requires that you maintain continuous enrollment until your 500 requirement is complete. After one semester of ENGL 500, those students who receive a grade of RP (reasonable progress) for the course can elect to enroll in ENGL 599 (Continuous Enrollment) at a reduced fee instead of registering again for ENGL 500. Students enrolled in ENGL 599 may not enroll in any other courses. After three sequential semesters enrolled in ENGL 599, a student must re-enroll in ENGL 500.

To see current fees and apply for continuous enrollment, please visit the OGS form website:

Thesis writers: If you do not complete your thesis during the semester in which you first register for ENGL 500, you can register for ENGL 599 if you have made “reasonable progress” on the thesis, as assessed by your thesis advisors.

Comprehensive-Exam Students: English MA students who elected not to take the exam during their first semester registered for ENGL 500 may subsequently register for ENGL 599. A student who takes but does not pass the comprehensive exam will receive a grade of NC (no credit) and must re-enroll in ENGL 500 when they are ready to take the exam a second time.

SECTION 8 GRADUATION

8.1 THE GRADUATION APPLICATION

MA students who are completing ENGL 500 (the culminating experience) and who plan to graduate at the end of the semester must file an Application for Graduation with the Office of Graduate Studies. OGS will review the application to ensure that the student will have completed the degree requirements by the end of the semester. The application form is located on the OGS website:

<https://www.csus.edu/graduate-studies/current-students/forms.html>. The deadline for filing the Graduation Application is typically early in the semester. Please note: the Graduate Coordinator is available to approve forms only during the academic year. Forms will not be processed during winter break, spring break, or over the summer.

Before graduating, you must clear any holds from your student record.

Note: Submitting the Graduation Application does not automatically register a student for participation in commencement. For commencement information, please visit this site:

8.2 THE PETITION FOR EXCEPTION

If your coursework has deviated from the specifications you listed in your Advancement to Candidacy, you must file a Petition for Exception with the Office of Graduate Studies after obtaining the approval of the Graduate Coordinator for the changes. Please consult with the Graduate Coordinator before submitting your Petition for Exception.

8.3 CHANGE IN GRADUATION DATE

If you file an Application for Graduation but then seek to change the semester when you will graduate, you must file a Change of Graduation Date form with the Office of Graduate Studies. Please be aware that thesis advisors may not be available to work with you for additional semesters; please consult with your advisors early about any changes to your course of study.

8.4 OGS CULMINATING EXPERIENCE WORKSHOP

All students who take a comprehensive exam or who finalize a thesis for ENGL 500 must also register for and complete a culminating experience workshop given by the Office of Graduate Studies. Click here for additional information: <https://www.csus.edu/graduate-studies/current-students/thesis-project-dissertation.html>.

SECTION 9 GRADUATE POLICIES AND OTHER PROGRAM INFORMATION

9.1 MAINTAINING SATISFACTORY PROGRESS

All graduate students must maintain satisfactory progress while working toward the MA degree. The minimum GPA for such status is a 3.0 overall, and in English students must earn a C or better to receive degree credit for a course. Those earning a C- or lower must repeat the course. Students admitted as Conditionally Classified must fulfill the conditions of their admission within the year of residency in the program or face academic dismissal from the MA program. Unclassified students should complete their admission requirements before enrolling in 200-level courses; a classification application must be filed upon completion of admission requirements.

9.2 ACADEMIC PROBATION

Students may be placed on Administrative Academic Probation for the following reasons: withdrawal from all or a substantial portion of their courses in two successive terms or in any three terms, repeated failure to progress toward a degree or other program objective, and/or failure to comply after due notice with an academic requirement or regulation. Students who do not meet the conditions for removal of Administrative Academic Probation may be subject to Academic Dismissal.

9.3 ACADEMIC WARNING AND DISMISSAL

A student whose GPA for a given semester falls below 3.0 will be placed on Academic Warning. If while on Academic Warning a student earns a semester GPA of less than 3.0, the student will be subject to Academic Dismissal. Academic Dismissal is sometimes referred to as “disqualification” because students who are subject to dismissal are ineligible to register at CSUS unless they are approved for reinstatement on an academic contract.

9.4 REINSTATEMENT

A student who has been subject to Academic Disqualification may apply for reinstatement by submitting a Reinstatement Request form, complete with a letter detailing the circumstances that interfered with past academic achievement and indicating how these have been remedied. The form can be found on the OGS website: <https://www.csus.edu/graduate-studies/current-students/forms.html>. A student seeking reinstatement should meet the Graduate Coordinator before submitting this form.

9.5 ACADEMIC HONESTY

All University policies pertaining to academic honesty apply to work you conduct during your graduate studies. You are responsible for knowing and abiding by these policies, so be sure to familiarize yourself with them by reviewing the University Policy Manual:

<https://www.csus.edu/umannual/studentpolicies.html>

9.6 INDEPENDENT STUDY

Students seeking credit for independent study can petition to enroll in ENGL 299. ENGL 299 coursework can be for a variable number of credits and is sometimes graded on a credit/no credit basis. You may include up to 4 units of ENGL 299 towards your Master's degree. See the Appendices of this handbook for the ENGL 299 petition form.

9.7 GRADUATION WRITING ASSESSMENT REQUIREMENT (GWAR)

The University requires every MA student to fulfill the Graduation Writing Assessment Requirement (GWAR). In English and CRPW, MA students typically fulfill the GWAR requirement by taking one of the designated Graduate Writing Intensive (GWI) courses, Engl 200A or 220A. A student must receive a grade of "B" or higher in Engl 200A or 220A in order to satisfy the Graduation Writing Requirement. Please note that you must fulfill the GWAR requirement before you Advance to Candidacy.

9.8 LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Prior to enrolling in ENGL 500, an MA student can take a leave of up to one semester without filing a formal leave of absence request. For leaves that extend beyond a single semester, a leave request can be filed with the Office of Graduate Studies. Please visit the OGS form website for additional information: <https://www.csus.edu/graduate-studies/current-students/forms.html>.

9.9 APPLYING COURSES TAKEN DURING THE BA TOWARD THE MA

The University can confer graduate credit for coursework completed during the BA provided that all of the following conditions are met:

- The credits are in excess of what was required for the BA degree.
- No more than six units are applied to the MA degree.
- All the units were taken in the semester of graduation.

Any student who meets the above conditions and wants to request graduate credit for excess undergraduate courses should file a Petition for Exception with the Office of Graduate Studies.

Please note that the seven-year currency rule described below applies to undergraduate credit that is counted towards the MA.

9.10 SWITCHING MA CONCENTRATIONS

Once admitted to the English MA, students may switch concentrations from Literature to Creative Writing or vice versa, with the approval of the Program Coordinator and the Graduate Coordinator. It is also possible to switch from the CRPW MA to English or vice versa. A student considering such a switch must meet with the Graduate Coordinator and the Program Coordinator of the program to which they wish to switch. Please note that switching degrees or concentrations may considerably delay your graduation. After obtaining the appropriate approvals, the change is made official by filing a

9.11 SEVEN-YEAR COURSE CURRENCY

Per University policy, course credit remains current for a period of seven years. In other words, all of the 30 units taken for the MA degree must be completed within the seven years prior to graduation. If your degree takes longer than seven years to complete, your course credits will begin expiring, and you will have to either retake them (for required courses) or take comparable courses (for electives).

9.12 EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The English Department recruits students for paid positions each semester for appointments beginning the following semester. Watch for announcements approximately a month before the end of each semester. Additional information about the positions listed below as well as application materials can be found on the English Department website: <https://www.csus.edu/college/arts-letters/english/employment.html>.

Employment opportunities for students interested in tutoring and peer instruction may also be available in the Peer & Academic Resource Center: <https://www.csus.edu/center/peer-academic-resource/>.

SECTION 11 GUIDELINES FOR SUCCESS IN THE MA PROGRAM

To be admitted to the MA programs in the English Department, a student must have demonstrated strong potential for success in their prior academic work. Nevertheless, many students find graduate-level study significantly more challenging than their undergraduate work. Classes are generally smaller, workloads heavier, and expectations higher than you may have encountered while working toward your BA. The guidelines that follow can help you navigate your role as a graduate student.

11.1 STAY INFORMED

Be sure to check your CSUS email on a regular and frequent basis for announcements, updates, and information about impending milestones, including advancing to candidacy, enrolling in ENGL 500 (the culminating experience), and applying to graduate. The English Department is also on Facebook and Instagram.

11.2 KNOW YOUR PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS AND TIMELINE

Familiarize yourself with the coursework and the administrative requirements that you must complete to obtain your degree. Be aware of the deadlines by which you must complete milestones such as advancing to candidacy and enrolling in ENGL 500, the culminating experience.

Plan to check in with the Graduate Coordinator and the Program Coordinator for your discipline every semester. The faculty will not have time to track you down; take responsibility for your advising by making an appointment or visiting office hours.

11.3 SUCCEED IN CLASS

1. Cultivate intellectual curiosity. Think of classes and assignments not as to-do items to be checked off a list, but as opportunities to develop as a scholar.
2. Read your course syllabi carefully. Mark due dates on your calendar.
3. Maintain excellent attendance. Don't come to campus if you are ill or have tested positive for covid-19, but otherwise (emergencies or exigent circumstances excepted) attend every class session.
4. Come to class prepared. Complete your reading assignments, bring your texts to class, and be ready to discuss content and to ask questions.
5. Find your voice. In most graduate seminars, you will be expected to participate actively and to listen thoughtfully. While this may come easily to a few students, many will need to practice striking a good balance of speech and listening.
6. Manage your time carefully. Block out space on your calendar each week for reading and plan ahead for writing assignments, presentations, and other exercises.
7. Find a reliable study space. Graduate work entails a lot of reading and writing. Locate a space where you can focus and be most productive.
8. Visit instructor office hours.

11.3 GET INVOLVED

There are many opportunities to develop connections with peers and faculty during your graduate studies, including:

- Attend events and talks held by the English Department.
- Submit to Calaveras Station or join its staff. Calaveras Station is the CSUS student-edited literary journal.
- Participate in the CSUS Student Research Symposium. Every spring semester, the Student Research Center holds an oral presentation symposium event. English students have frequently won awards at this event and even been invited to the statewide CSU Symposium.
- Participate in the Grad Slam event hosted by the Office of Graduate Studies. Prepare a one-minute “elevator talk” presentation about your research. Cash awards are given for the top presentations.
- Join Protected Writing Time. Hosted by the Office of Graduate Studies, Protected Writing Time offers cost-free workshops on writing tailored for graduate students.
- Join Sigma Tau Delta, the International English Honor Society. Members are encouraged to apply for annual scholarships and publication in Sigma Tau Delta's two journals, The Rectangle and The Sigma Tau Delta Review, to take part in community service activities, and attend the annual convention for a chance to meet and network with other members. For more information, see the English Department website.
- Attend conferences. Look for Calls for Papers on listservs and websites pertinent to your discipline. A good place to start is the University of Pennsylvania CFP site.

11.4 APPLY FOR A BAZZANELLA AWARD

Offered each year by the English Department, the Bazzanella Awards program highlights excellence in writing across multiple mediums including poetry, short fiction, creative non-fiction, and critical analysis. Watch for information posted on the English Department website.

11.5 BE A GOOD ACADEMIC CITIZEN

Good academic citizenship entails professionalism, preparedness, and collegiality with your peers, instructors, and department staff. Some tips:

- Unless instructors invite you to do otherwise, address them by their title and last name (Prof. So-and-So, Dr. So-and-So).
- Keep emails to instructors and staff brief and succinct. Identify your reason for writing and the information or action that you are seeking.
- Collaborate with your peers. Offer to swap rough drafts for preliminary feedback; compare notes from class sessions; hold mock job talks.
- Don't dominate classroom conversations; but don't sit passively either. Engage thoughtfully and respectfully with your peers and instructors.
