About Entrepreneurship and Global Business (EGB) Concentration

The concentration will learn how to systemically analyze opportunities for global entrepreneurship, understand and be able to cope with the issues and challenges facing global entrepreneurs; get a knowledge and hands-on experience in managing international business activities of global startups and existing companies and get familiarized with the power of networks while working globally.

As a result, the concentration will prepare individuals who are interested in beginning their own company in today's globalized business environment. At the same time it allows students the flexibility to tailor coursework to pursue career interests not only in entrepreneurial businesses, but also in multinational enterprises, governments, and non-profit organizations.

The college has the following resources to successfully deliver the concentrations:

- Faculty with extensive teaching experience in the areas of entrepreneurship, global business, and international marketing, with a solid research background and real-world business experience in these areas.
- The skills and experience in using practical case-studies, team projects, simulation games and other learning tools on the graduate level.
- Strong links with the local business community that makes guest speakers, sponsored networking events and one-on-one discussions with local entrepreneurs and business organizations an effective means of achieving learning goals. This enables students to be exposed to the actual implementation of the topics covered in class with real-life companies.
