PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The mission of the Educational Leadership and Policy Studies program is to develop educational leaders from diverse backgrounds who will effectively lead and improve TK-12 school systems. Our program aims to prepare school leaders who possess the following core qualities and characteristics:

- Be visionary change agents
- Create collaborative learning communities
- Engage in reflective practice
- Lead for inclusiveness
- Implement research-based and site-based best practices
- Be instructional leaders

WHAT MAKES OUR PROGRAM UNIQUE?

Aspiring school leaders can complete our Preliminary Administrative Services Credential in less than 11 months and complete their Master of Arts in Education: TK-12 Educational Leadership degree in just 4 additional months (15 months total for the Credential and MA). Our program is cohort-based in that students who are admitted each application cycle will matriculate through all coursework together, as a cohort. Utilizing a hybrid program design, our program incorporates both traditional face-to-face and online learning activities in order to ensure our program is conducive for full-time working school teachers/adults. Finally, our credential courses coincide with our Master of Arts in Education: TK-12 Educational Leadership degree in that the credential and degree can be earned concurrently.

WHERE ARE OUR GRADUATES?

Past graduates of our program successfully serve in a broad variety of leadership roles within the TK-12 educational setting both in the region and across the state, as well as throughout the nation and around the globe. In addition, upon completion of our program, several of our graduates have chosen to pursue a Doctorate in Educational Leadership degree at California State University, Sacramento.

"School leadership is second only to direct classroom instruction among all school-related factors that contribute to student achievement in a school."
