

Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders

CAA Accreditation Standard 4.10

Distance Education Student Identity Policy

In order to access Zoom links for courses, faculty are set up their Zoom meetings within Canvas so that only students who are enrolled in the course can have access to the meeting information. In order to access Canvas, students are required to authenticate themselves through the MySacState portal using their Sac State username and password. The university is also requiring Duo authentication as well. All students are required to sign up for Duo. Exams are administered through Canvas as well, which requires the students to login and authenticate themselves through Duo.

There are no fees associated with distance learning. If courses have fees associated with them in general, then the fee information is available to students prior to registering for the class. There is a policy that has to do with being transparent about fees for instructional materials. It is called Timely Instruction Materials Policy for Accessibility and Affordability. It can be found in the University Policy Manual:

<https://www.csus.edu/umannual/atozpolicies.html#top>