Changing Outcomes: The Law Enforcement Candidate Scholars' program is accepting applications for the Fall 2021 cohort

Are you interested in pursuing a career in public safety? Do you wish to foster greater relations between communities and law enforcement across the state? Would you like to participate with fellow students who desire to be future law enforcement officers of change?

The Law Enforcement Candidate Scholars’ (LECS) program is a unique and innovative program located within the Division of Criminal Justice at Sac State. The LECS program is designed to provide academic, career and leadership development and mentoring, while preparing and transforming students from all majors to become sworn law enforcement officers. The LECS program offers an abundance of opportunities and resources to students who become key components toward building bridges between Sacramento State, law enforcement and the community. Students will participate in pre-academy workshops (CRJ 198) that involve academic and physical fitness training, along with experiential learning provided by law enforcement agencies and other LECS partners.

To learn more about the LECS program, Virtual LECS information sessions are scheduled for the following dates.

Thur. March 18 12-1pm
Wed. April 7 12-1 pm
