Specialized Area of Practice Survey

For course planning purposes, we would like to survey your preference for specialized area of practice. This is only a tool to gauge applicant interest. Please select one specialization that most appeals to you or if you are uncertain select undecided.

The survey will not have any impact on your application to the Division of Social Work and will only assist the department in determining how many courses will be offered during the MSW II year of study for the applicant class.

☐ Behavioral Health/Mental Health Specialization

Social Workers are one of the principal providers of mental health services in the United States. There is an increasing need for advanced competencies to practice in mental health centers, psychiatric rehabilitation facilities, emergency services, hospitals, housing and residential recovery programs serving homeless, as well as dual diagnosed clients. The focus is to train graduate level practitioners to conduct complex assessments, be competent in differential diagnosis, using DSM 5, be able to perform time limited psycho-therapeutic supports, clinical case management, be able to fully integrate autonomous practice with full respect for advanced ethics and mental health law and be a liaison with the courts and other forensic services.

☐ Health & Gerontology Specialization

The constant growth, demands and changes in health care have had a serious impact on the viability and need for social workers in all areas and settings of health care. Social workers are present in public health, acute and chronic care settings providing a range of services including health education, crisis intervention, a wide range of individual, family and group supportive counseling and case management. Health care social workers are increasingly trained to provide interventions to prepare for and respond to traumatic events and disasters. The health care system in the United States is complex and multidisciplinary in nature and Social Workers will be trained in a network of services such as diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation, health maintenance and prevention provided to individuals of all ages with a range of needs.

☐ Child, Adolescent, & Family Specialization

Child, Adolescent & Family is designed for the advanced second year student who is committed to improving the lives of children adolescents through psychosocial interventions. A major focus is to help students build a framework for social work interventions using normative developmental supports and case planning. Another focus is to prepare students to understand developmental stresses, disruption and challenges and to identify research informed social work interventions that include individual children, their caregivers and community settings that provide primary and supportive school, community, behavioral and mental health services.

☐ Undecided
