

Prof. Caroline Keegan and her GEOG 102 and undergraduate research assistants (Crystal Cruz and Jenica Gospodnetich) surveyed Rancho Cordova community members about which cultural foods are relevant to immigrant and refugee communities in the region in hopes of helping the farm diversify their offerings and bring in more of their neighbors. Prof. Keegan, Crystal, and Jenica presented their work May 3rd at Soil Born Farms Saturday Market, giving out an informational booklet they put together with recipes and cultivation tips for featured crops.
