

PSYC 143: Practicum in Community Psychology Recruitment for Spring 2022

Are you interested in learning about Community Psychology while gaining practical experience in a community organization? Applications are now open for our Spring 2022 cohort!

Priority Deadline: Friday, December 10th

Application for enrollment is available on Qualtrics. This 3-unit course will be taught in a hybrid format, consisting of in-person course meetings on Thursdays (9-10:15am) with the faculty instructor and classmates. Students will also view recorded lecture content, complete assessments, and engage in 80-90 hours of fieldwork. Students must be PSYC majors and submit an application. Juniors and Seniors will be considered. We may not be able to enroll all applicants depending on demand, and decisions on enrollment will be at the instructor's discretion. Placement at sites will occur at the beginning of Spring 2022. Applications submitted by December 10th will be given first priority.
