Inaugural Juneteenth Symposium

Join the Watch Party!

The California State University’s inaugural Juneteenth Symposium, “By Any Means Necessary: Synthesizing the Voices of Our Ancestors and Everyday People,” hosted by CSU Dominguez Hills, will be Wednesday and Thursday, June 15-16, in Los Angeles. Each CSU campus will be represented at the symposium by a 25-person delegation of students, faculty, and staff. Sacramento State enthusiastically met our call for participants. We know that our delegation will represent Sac State well and come home prepared to share information that will allow us to continue recognizing African American history and achievement while advancing our Antiracism and Inclusive Campus Action Plan. Members of the Hornet Family who are not delegates may register to join the CSU Juneteenth Symposium Virtual Watch Party to witness inspiring, dynamic student performances and world-class speakers, such as Shaun Harper, Dr. Tyron Howard, Dr. Juanita Watts, Dr. J. Luke Wood, and Michele Goodwin. Once our delegation returns, we will continue work connected to Juneteenth. Those activities include a review of the 13th Amendment, and politics of the Emancipation Proclamation and what it means today to advance antiracism. We look forward to seeing the results of this moment of connection, discovery, and ongoing action to disrupt and eliminate the maintenance and perpetuation of racism, exclusion, and all forms of oppression.
