Position:

Capital Public Radio's Garden is the first NPR affiliated garden in the nation. The garden tour features our on-site composting, bee hives, and chickens. The Sustainability team partners with Grounds Management to maintain the garden, which serves to spread the word about and help reduce food insecurity and literacy in Sacramento. The Sustainability department works in conjunction with Grounds to maintain the garden. Any produce grown in the garden is given to the campus food pantry for students to eat.

As a volunteer, you will participate in the beautification and harvest of the Fall Garden and BAC Yard. The Sustainability team will teach volunteers on a weekly basis, the knowledge needed to maintain and cultivate this important Sac State resource. This will be an incredible opportunity for volunteers to get their hands dirty and appreciate our campus.
