

Tips for Working with Community Partners

Engage Community Partners as co-educators. Reach out to them for an open line of communication before, during, and after the semester.

1

Share your course syllabus or key assignments that require students to perform specific tasks or projects, which could include interviewing, observing, researching, etc.

2

Remind Community Partners to prepare and conduct a student orientation for students' first site visit.

3

Support Community Partners in providing feedback to students, such as completing evaluations at mid-term and end of term. Send them your evaluation form early in the semester with due dates.
