

OFFICES OF RESEARCH, INNOVATION, & ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

WHO WE ARE

The Offices of Research, Innovation, and Economic Development (ORIED), a unit of Academic Affairs, works to expand the research capacity of Sacramento State's faculty, staff, and students, and to link a range of academic and infrastructure initiatives and activities that advance our faculty and campus connection to the regional community. ORIED supports faculty seeking external funding for their research and scholarly activities, and on behalf of the University, submits grant and contract proposals. In addition, this office is responsible for administering internal research funds and recognition programs and, as part of its research integrity and compliance functions, facilitates the Institutional Review Board (IRB), the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC), and superintends campus academic centers and institutes. ORIED also provides support services to faculty with full-spectrum intellectual property services as well as assisting external stakeholders in connecting with appropriate university specialists who can offer research and project development, business and technical expertise and assistance with talent creation and workforce development.
