Learning Objectives: By the end of the course, each student will be able to...

- ✓ Meet the learning objectives associated with all GE area D (Individual and Society) courses at CSUS:
 1. Describe and evaluate ethical and social values in their historical and cultural contexts.
 2. Explain and critically examine social dynamics and issues in their historical and cultural contexts.
 3. Demonstrate an understanding of the role of human diversity in human society (for example, race, class, age, gender).
 4. Explain and apply the principles and methods of academic disciplines (for example, philosophy) to the study of social and individual behavior.
- ✓ Meet the learning objectives associated with developing competence in philosophical language and literature on ethical dilemmas in biology and medicine:
 5. Identify moral and social consequences of advances in biology and medicine on the practices and institutions of our and other societies.
 6. Critically examine how thoughtful and diverse experts and peers apply moral concepts and theories to moral issues raised by advances in biology and medicine.
 7. Represent and express philosophical reasoning about advances in biology and medicine by writing clear and concise analytical and argumentative prose.

* Please note: Students who do not participate in the online discussions and take the quizzes during the first two weeks of the semester will be considered to have abandoned the course and may be administratively dropped by the instructor. Re-enrolment will not be permitted.

Grading: Final grades are determined by points earned out of 1000. Grade floors are 930=A, 900=A-, 870=B+, 830=B, 800=B-, 770=C+, 730=C, 700=C-, 670=D+, 630=D, 600=D-. 600 is necessary for credit (CR) in the course. Attendance is not graded. Late work is only graded at the discretion of the instructor. Some extra credit may be earned for additional activities announced in advance. Total points are calculated as follows using the “Definition of Grade Symbols” at the University's Academic Policies page (<http://catalog.csus.edu/academic-policies/#text>):

- ✓ Quizzes (30 points per module x 15 modules = 450 points): For each module, after reading the texts and watching the online videos, take a timed (60 minute) online quiz before 11:59pm each Saturday (30 points). The questions come directly from that module's readings and videos. Unless announced otherwise, each quiz can only be taken once.
- ✓ Discussions (30 points per module x 15 modules = 450 points): For each module, use the discussions to make your own long reply to the target question by 11:59pm each Wednesday (10 points), your own medium replies to three long replies of other students in your small group by 11:59pm each Saturday (15 points), and your own short replies to the remaining long replies of other students in your small group by 11:59pm each Saturday (5 points). See details in the 'Discussions' PDF and each module.

You should do at least one of the following two options, but if you do both, then only the higher scoring option will count towards your final grade:

- ✓ Final Exam Option (100 points): The online final exam window will open at 12:01am Sunday at start of finals week and close at 11:59pm on Saturday at end of finals week. The final exam will be scored (100 points), timed (120 minutes), and cumulative (made of questions drawn from quiz question pools and a pool of questions proposed by students). The final exam can only be taken once.
- ✓ Final Paper Option (100 points): You can write a philosophical analysis on one of our 'recommended' texts above, or expand one of your long replies into a full philosophical analysis, by 11:59pm on Saturday at the end of finals week. See details in the 'Philosophical Analysis' PDF. We will use <http://turnitin.com> for this paper.

Other Course and University Policies:

Etiquette/Netiquette: All of us involved in this course should conduct ourselves in ways consistent with the Hornet Honor Code.

Academic Honesty: Students should conduct themselves with respect for others and perform their work with intellectual integrity and honesty, which includes giving proper attribution to sources. Each instance of academic dishonesty (e.g., plagiarism, cheating on an exam, etc.) will result a score of 0 (not just a failing grade) for that assignment/test and, if necessary, referral to the department and college for disciplinary procedures consistent with the Academic Honesty Policies articulated in the University Policy Manual. Procedures for reporting and imposing sanctions are described in detail at: <http://www.csus.edu/um anual/student/stu-0100.htm>.

Exceptions: Although attendance is not a relevant issue in an asynchronous course, late work for good cause such as medical or family emergencies (including COVID-19 related reasons like illness or quarantine) may be excused on a case-by case basis, typically with advance written notice and appropriate documentation.
