PRIME (Project Rebound: Internships, Mentorships, & Education)

An internship program for students to earn course credit and a stipend for participating that supports their professional development.

- One student interned for the Office of the Governor during the pandemic.
- Another student had a hard time entering the engineering field with a conviction, we provided him with an internship, and now has a full-time employment shortly thereafter.
- PRIME is in partnership with the Career Center and bridges the need of education, work experience, and professional development.
